War Banished Forever, say Hoover and MacDonald

JOINT STATEMENT ISSUED BY CHIEFS OF BOTH NATIONS

Satisfactory Solution
Seen for All Problems,
Old and New, Between Great Powers.

BRITON PAYS FINAL WHITE HOUSE CALL

Statement Given Out
Shortly After Prime Minister and President
Hold Last Conversation.

BY C. P. WILLIAMSON.
Associated Press Staff Writer.
Washington, October 9.—(P)—President Hoover and Prime Minister MacDonald joined tonight in announcing their conversations that war between the United States and Great Britain was "banished" and that consequently a satisfactory solution of the "old historical problems" between the two nations had become possible. While these problems were not specified in the statement, there was little doubt that the principal one was freedom of the seas, a subject which has been the cause of many controversies in the past and particularly during the early days of the World War before the United States became a belligerent.

The chief executive and the prime minister asserted that on the assumption "that conflicts between the military and naval forces can not take place, these problems have changed their meaning and character, and their solution, in ways satisfactory to both countries, has become possible."

Freedom of Seas.
An agreement on the freedom of the seas has been demanded by some senators, particularly Chairman Borah, of the foreign relations committee, as a prelude to any further naval limitation treaty. Some government officers and naval authorities take the view that an accord on parity in naval strength as between the United States and Great Britain makes easy a solution of the problem.

The joint statement of Mr. Hoover and Mr. MacDonald was distributed at the White House shortly after the prime minister had left the executive mansion, where he held his second conference of the day with Mr. Hoover soon after noon. Secretary Stimson and Sir Robert V. S. Sutherland, principal secretary to the prime minister and an under-secretary of state for foreign affairs, and R. L. Craigie, chief of the American division of the British foreign office, were present.

A trans-Atlantic telephonic conversation was held on the premises in instructions by members of his party earlier in the day with No. 10 Downing street, but whether the conversation concerned a final working of the joint statement was not disclosed.

Last Visit.
The conference at the White House, at which the final text of the statement was approved, was the last visit of the prime minister upon the president except for a brief call arranged tonight for the premier and his daughter, Miss Isabel MacDonald, formally to bid good-by to the president and Mrs. Hoover.

A brief explanatory introduction to

Hoover, MacDonald Unite in Statement Telling of Success

Washington, October 9.—(P)—The text of the joint statement issued tonight by President Hoover and Prime Minister MacDonald was as follows:
During the last few days we have had an opportunity, in the informal talks in which we have engaged, not only to review the conversations on a naval agreement which have been carried on during this summer between us, but also to discuss some of the more important means by which the moral force of our countries can be exerted for peace.

"We have been guided by the double hope of settling our own differences on naval matters and so establishing undoubted goodwill, candor and confidence between us, and also of contributing something to the solution of the problem for peace in which all other nations are interested and which calls for their co-operation."

"In signing the Paris peace pact 56 nations have declared that war shall not be used as an instrument of national policy. We have agreed that disputes shall be settled by pacific means. Both our governments resolve to accept the peace pact not only as a declaration of good intentions but as a positive obligation to direct national policy in accordance with its pledge."

"The part of each of our governments in the promotion of world peace will be different, as one will never consent to become entangled in European diplomacy and the other is resolved to pursue a policy of active co-operation with its European neighbors, but each of our governments will direct its thoughts and influence towards securing and maintaining the peace of the world."

"Our conversations have been largely confined to the mutual relations of the two countries in the light of the situation created by the signing of the peace pact."

Therefore, in a new and reinforced sense the two governments not only declare that war between them is unthinkable, but that distrust and suspicions arising from doubt and fears which may have been justified before the peace pact must now cease to influence national policy. We approach old historical problems from a new angle and in a new atmosphere. On the assumption that war between us is banished, and that conflicts between our military or naval forces cannot take place, these problems have changed their meaning and character, and their solution, in ways satisfactory to both countries, has become possible.

"We have agreed that those questions should become the subject of active consideration between us. They involve important technical matters requiring detailed study. One of the hopeful results of the visit which is now terminating officially has been that our two governments will begin conversations upon them following the same method as that which has been pursued during the summer in London."

"The exchange of views on naval reduction has brought the two nations so close to agreement that the obstacles in previous conferences arising out of American disagreements seem now substantially removed. We have kept the nations which took part in the Washington naval conference of 1922 informed of the progress of our conversations, and we have now proposed to them that we should meet together again to come to a common agreement which would justify each in making substantial naval reductions."

FILIPINO FREEDOM LOSES IN SENATE AS TARIFF RIDER

Independence Amendment
Defeated, But To Prevent Confusion in Tariff Measure.

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER.
Associated Press Staff Writer.
Washington, October 9.—(P)—By a vote of forty-five to thirty-six, the senate today rejected an amendment to the tariff bill which would have granted independence to the Philippines after a constitutional convention in the islands had set up self-government.

Members of both parties contended the vote was not a test on the independence question, but was aimed to prevent it becoming tangled in tariff consideration at a time when all were agreed that the latter should be disposed of promptly.

The independence issue was injected into the tariff debate with unexpected suddenness. It appeared for a time that the pending revision bill would be sidetracked indefinitely because of the apparent earnestness of senators to discuss freedom of the islands which the United States purchased after the Spanish-American war.

Upbuilding of Southern Dairying Industry Urged In Address by J. C. Penney

Noted Business Leader and Cattle-Breeder Honored at Luncheon of Atlanta Bank Officials.

The upbuilding of the south's dairying industry was urged by J. C. Penney, noted chain-store owner and business leader, in an address at the Capital City Club, where he was the guest of local bankers at a luncheon at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Among those bankers represented at the meeting were the Atlanta & Lowry National bank, the Fourth National bank and the Citizens & Southern National bank.

R. F. Maddox, chairman of the Atlanta & Lowry bank, presided.

"I am with you," Mr. Penney declared, "because of our community of interests in the development of this section. The south is comparable with a sleeping giant, showing here and there a sign of arousing to a realization of its powers but for the most part but dimly conscious of its vast resources and great strength.

Farmer's Hard Times.

"In latter years," he said, "agriculture has fallen into disrepute and has experienced hard times. There seems to be uniformity in the belief of those who have thoughtfully studied the subject that in the main the bad agricultural situation is due to three causes—the lack of application of modern scientific principles, a one-crop program, and the lack of adequate marketing facilities."

"The farmer can overcome the first," he said, on his own initiative, with some educational aid and encouragement.

"The farmer must be made to realize that his table should be supplied the year round from his farming operations," Mr. Penney declared. "He should not only grow a year-round supply of food for himself and family, but plenty of feed for live stock and have live stock to eat it—cows, pigs and poultry. He should have a year-round surplus for sale every day of the year, if possible."

Constant Money Crop.
Dairying will meet all the requirements of the farmer in giving him a constant money crop, he declared.

"It is adaptable to the conditions of the large and the small farmer whether he owns or rents the land. On a large proportion of the farms herds of good dairy cows will furnish enough ready cash to finance the making of the crop and at end of the year leave the money received from the crop as a clear profit. Such a plan more than anything else, would eliminate the old lien system which keeps many farmers one year behind."

Speaking from his own experience, Mr. Penney said that in 1921, when business everywhere met with a severe setback, the Wisconsin farmer's cream checks did not fail him. While stores out of the country felt the loss of trade from the Wisconsin dairy farmer, the farmer in Wisconsin did not suffer nearly so keenly.

It was this, he declared, that attracted his attention to dairying.

Improvement of Cow.
The dairy cow can be much improved, he said. "Research revealed the appalling facts that out of the estimated total of 25,000,000 cows in the country only approximately three percent were purebreds, and the average yearly production per cow was less than 4,000 pounds of milk and 180 pounds of butter fat."

These figures were greatly below those of other countries. Great Britain surpasses the United States with an average of 5,562 pounds of milk; Holland with 7,585 pounds, and Switzerland, with more than 10,000 pounds per cow.

"I should like to see our American farmers concentrate intensively upon the improvement of their herds. This I cannot emphasize too strongly. It is the heart of my gospel for agriculture. I believe that an intensive dairy program would end the need of the farmer."

Only three percent of the dairy cows in America are purebred, he said. Conditions are such that for years to come only a small percentage of dairy products will come from purebred cattle.

Only One-Third Pay.
"It has been shown by cow-testing association records that about one-third of all our cows are milked at a loss, one-third just break their own way, while the remaining one-third are the profit makers."

He advocated a policy of weeding, feeding and breeding to produce better bred milk cattle.

"For the weeding-out process the cow-testing association is a vital necessity. Only careful record keeping will show which cows should be discarded as unprofitable."

"I believe that a large part of the fault of the country, speaking agriculturally and from the dairy standpoint, lies in the 4-H Club activities now being carried on among boys and girls. These are being shown which will bear mighty fruit in future days."

Farmers, Mr. Penney said, sometimes are deterred from extension of dairying because of fear of lack of a market for their products. "With marketing properly co-ordinated and organized, this fear is groundless. The potential market is without limit."

Milk is nature's own food, he said, citing authorities who have stated that each adult should consume at least a pint a day.

Use of Butter.
Butter is another good food, although it represents only a small part of the dairy industry, he pointed out. "While the United States ranks creditably among the nations in the matter of butter consumption, its 17.8 pounds per person per year is surpassed by Canada's average of 27 pounds and Australia's and New Zealand's similar high consumption."

"As cheese consumers it is to be expected that our nation ranks below those European countries where cheese for centuries has been one of the staple articles of diet. Our consumption of 4.3 pounds per person in 1926 was surpassed by Switzerland, which tops the list with a consumption of more than 23 pounds per person, and by a dozen or more other countries."

"For condensed and evaporated milk there is a large market, one that is annually becoming larger because of increased exportations, in addition to increased home consumption."

"Lastly, but not because it is the least important, we come to ice cream. The increase in the ice cream business for the period from 1914 to 1921 greatly exceeded that of practically any other industry. The ice cream business affords a constantly increasing avenue for the disposition of the farmer's milk and cream."

Guest at Banquet.
Wednesday evening Mr. Penney was guest of honor at a dinner tendered him at the Atlanta-Biltmore hotel by officers of Foremost Dairy Products, Inc., and the Southwestern Dairy Products Company, Inc.

Among those present were Dr. Burdett G. Lewis, president of the Foremost company; Robert Chambers, vice president of M. Foreman and Company, bankers, of Chicago and New York; and O. G. Drake, of Moore, Leonard & Lynch, New York bankers, both of whom are members of the board of directors of the Foremost and Southwestern companies; Charles W. Conway, of Texarkana, Ark., president of the Southwestern company; Claude Dawley, of Dallas; Hugo Larson, vice president and general manager of the Foremost company; Jacksonville, George Sanchen, Atlanta; Arthur Land, Jacksonville; Lloyd Brown, Jacksonville; William O'Donohue, Jacksonville, and E. R. Miller, of the G. Walter Thompson Advertising Company, New York.

FALL THOUGHT UNABLE TO CONTINUE TRIAL

Washington, October 9.—(United News).—Government and defense lawyers tonight held little hope that the condition of Albert B. Fall, former interior secretary, would be good enough to permit continuance of his trial on a charge of receiving a $100,000 bribe from E. L. Doheny eight years ago.

Justice William Hitz, of the District of Columbia supreme court, probably will discharge the looked-up jury of four women and eight men tomorrow unless Dr. Sterling Ruffing, appointed by the court to examine the 88-year-old defendant, reports that he can return in a day or two to the courtroom.

Late today, however, Fall was reported sleeping after a day's rest. The trial was halted at the opening of the session when Fall's personal physician, Dr. H. T. Safford, reported that Fall was coughing blood and was not in condition to get out of bed.

It was understood that Safford believes Fall's bronchial trouble is likely to turn into bronchial pneumonia unless he stays in bed for a few days at least.

The jury, under guard of bailiffs, already has lost a day and a half because of Fall's illness, and Justice Hitz is not expected to keep it confined further unless there is assurance that the case will be concluded speedily.

Dr. Ruffing, who was one of Woodrow Wilson's physicians, is prominent in his profession. Fall has been examined five times previously by physicians designated by the government, and each time he has been reported very weak and not likely to be able to withstand the Washington climate for very long. Because of the previous reports, the trial has been postponed from time to time because of unfavorable weather conditions in Washington.

The old New Mexico lawyer and former senator has not, however, suffered any hemorrhage, Dr. Safford said in contradicting reports.

If Fall's illness causes postponement of the trial, the indictment will not be nolle prosequi immediately, although Fall's weakened condition seems to make it likely that if he is not tried now, he never will be.

Prosecutor J. Robert said he would not act in case of a postponement, "except under the orders of my superior officer"—meaning President Hoover.

Possibility that this would be the end of the oil cases was seen, although two other indictments remain to be tried. One charges Doheny, the oil multi-millionaire, with giving Fall the $100,000 alleged bribe for the Elkhills oil leases, and the other charges Fall with conspiring to defraud the government in the similar Teapot Dome leases given to Harry Sinclair.

The Doheny bribery case, according to legal authorities, would be more difficult to prove than the Fall bribery charge, and Sinclair has already been acquitted on the joint conspiracy charge, which would make it difficult to secure a conviction against Fall.

Atlanta To Plan "Lights Jubilee" Program Today

The general committee in charge of plans for Atlanta's part in the celebration of "Light's Golden Jubilee" in honor of Thomas A. Edison will meet in the office of Mayor Ragsdale at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Reports of sub-committees will be made.

Mayor Ragsdale recently issued a proclamation setting aside the week of October 14 to 21 for the city's official tribute to the inventor of the electric light, and Wednesday it was announced that a framed copy of this proclamation will be placed on the Five Points' flagpole during the celebration.

It also was learned that the huge central display of golden-hued electric lights at Five Points will be in the shape of a "weeping willow" tree and that this collection of lights probably will be more than 30 feet in height, with "branches" drooping toward the ground. October 21 definitely has been set aside for the educational phase of the celebration, and although final details of the program have not been completed, it is planned to have special Edison exercises in every school in the city and county, which will be decorated with Edison portraits and Jubilee banners.

Other plans, such as special programs in leading theaters and the ringing of church bells for a period of several minutes on the night of October 21 are rapidly shaping up.

No Drinks For Workers, So No Flag

Chicago, October 9.—(AP)—The reason no American flag fluttered from the steel skeleton of the Board of Trade building today was the eighteenth amendment to the constitution.

The flag was to have been hoisted yesterday, marking the completion of the steel work without a fatality among the laborers. Such hoistings usually are made the occasion for a celebration of the workers.

Henry A. Rumsey, broker, clubman and chairman of the building committee, watched for hours yesterday for the flag to rise.

A workman came to tell him all was in readiness and that the men were waiting for the drinks. Mr. Rumsey wanted to know what drinks.

"Just before the flag is raised the firm always sends up a round of drinks for everybody," the workman said. "The men wouldn't think of raising the flag without the usual toast."

"You go back and tell them that this time the flag goes up without drinks," said Mr. Rumsey. "There's a law against it. I'll send up coffee and sandwiches, but I'll certainly be no party to breaking the prohibition law."

The workman went back and reported. Mr. Rumsey went back to his window to watch. Dusk settled upon the city. Word came back that without drinks there would be no flag.

There were no drinks. And when the sun arose this morning there still was no flag.

COMMISSION STUDIES MOUNTAIN POWER SITE

To Decide If Kentucky Beauty Spot Will Be Utilized.

Washington, October 9.—(Special.)—Guidance toward settlement of the long-standing dispute over whether Cumberland Falls, Ky., should be preserved as a beauty spot or utilized as a power site will be sought at the place itself by the three cabinet members who form the federal power commission.

Secretary Good, chairman of the commission, and Secretaries Wilbur and Hyde all took office after the lengthy hearings on the application to construct a power dam at the falls, so they decided that a look at the falls was needed to supplement a study of the numerous lengthy briefs of proponents and opponents of the development.

Leaving Washington at 3 p. m. today, they will reach Cumberland Falls at 1:45 p. m. tomorrow, spend the 45 minutes there and return immediately to the capital.

They will be accompanied by F. E. Bonner, executive secretary of the commission; Lieutenant Colonel M. C. Tyler, its chief engineer, and Major F. K. Newcomer, his assistant; Northcutt Ely, executive assistant to Secretary Wilbur, and Horace Albright, director of national parks.

In Kentucky they will be joined by Governor Sappington, of that state; Representative Robinson, republican, Kentucky, and Miss Harlean James, secretary of the American Civic Association.

Aid for Crippled Children Urged By Roosevelt

Macon, Ga., October 9.—(Special.)—Ninety per cent of the half million crippled young people and the half million mentally deficient in the United States could be cured by proper treatment, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, said today in an address before the Macon Rotary Club.

"Two generations ago mental or physical handicaps were thought to be the afflictions of the Almighty and treated as such," the governor said. "Members of families who suffered physically or mentally were put into attics or other out-of-the-way places and given the attention of the family, but kept from the outside world. There is a different view now and such cases can be cured in large numbers and made into useful citizens."

"However, modern medicine and modern science are not being applied to these children as they should be and could be. Only about 10 per cent are being given the care and treatment which would restore them to their usefulness."

Discussing the matter from a monetary standpoint Governor Roosevelt said that the restoration of the 90 per cent of the unfit would be worth thousands of millions of dollars annually to the entire country.

Governor Roosevelt is spending some time at his Warm Springs, Ga., home for the benefit of his own health. The meeting here today was said to have been attended by the largest crowd ever to gather in Rotary hall.

ROOSEVELT WILL AID CRIPPLED CHILDREN.
Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, when visited this week at Warm Springs by J. P. Faulkner, new head of the state welfare department; Dr. T. F. Abernethy, head of the health department, and Dr. E. W. Giddien, of the state tuberculosis sanatorium, expressed a warm interest in the proposed program for crippled children in Georgia.

Governor Roosevelt recently held a conference with officials and others in Meriwether county which he hopes will result in obtaining a county health unit there. The governor also hopes to see an institution near Warm Springs dedicated to the care of children affected with tuberculosis of the bones and joints.

With regard to the program for crippled children he suggested that the primary object will be to learn as nearly as possible the number of children in Georgia needing attention, and then raise either through private resources or by legislative measures funds to help those unable to pay for treatment.

He estimated that there are at least 7,000 children in Georgia in need of orthopedic treatment.

Warm Springs, Governor Roosevelt stated can be utilized for the care of such patients as are able to go there.

POLICEMAN, JUDGE ARRESTED IN EXPOSE

Captain and Detective Chief Among Eleven Held by U. S. Agents.

Gary, Ind., October 9.—(Special.)—The federal government's expose of liquor and vice conditions in Lake county had reached into the Gary police department today with the arrest of 11 policemen, including two commanding officers, and a city judge. Five other uniformed policemen were to be arrested by prearrangement.

H. E. Miner, deputy United States marshal, marched into the city police station last night and served warrants on Captain John R. Smith, commanding officer in place of Police Chief Forbes, who is out of town, and Chief of Detectives R. Vodka. The entire detective personnel was summoned to the station and the officers for whom Miner held warrants were arrested.

Besides Captain Smith and Chief Vodka, those arrested were: City Judge Thomas Galasini; Lieutenant Matt Leach, Detective Lieutenant Frank Galloway, Detective Sergeant John Papp and E. I. Kidwell; Detective Nathan Potts and James Sherman, and uniformed Patrolmen Frank Cook, Oscar Salzman and Roy Keele.

Warrants also were held for Patrolmen Lester Cummings, Leon Ingersoll, Walter Potursalska, Michael Yanitor and Ellis Thomas, the first two assigned to the motorcycle squad. In view of a recent decision of the city board of safety that any policeman caught in the federal net would be immediately suspended, prospects were that the force today would be without an officer. It was not known when Chief Forbes would return.

The arrests were made on indictments returned by the grand jury which recently investigated a liquor and vice conspiracy said to have controlled politics and police forces of the Calumet district in northern Indiana.

The police officers and judge were specifically named in connection with the disappearance of a truck load of Canadian ale seized by Patrolmen Yanitor and Thomas. The two drivers of the truck were turned over to federal authorities, but the truck load of ale mysteriously disappeared. The government charges it was divided among the police force, the judge and prominent politicians.

The arrests of the police left 63 defendants, named in secret indictments, still to be arrested.

CRATE OF ONIONS SENT TO CAPITOL FROM COLORADO

The Georgia state house Wednesday reeked with the odor of onions, a full crate of them, husky fellows measuring 10 to 12 inches in circumference, being delivered to Stiles Martin, of the state department of agriculture.

They were sent by Professor A. J. McFarland, of Rocky Ford, Colo., who became acquainted with Mr. Martin at the N. E. A. convention here last summer. Professor McFarland wrote that Colorado is substituting onions for the famous Rocky Ford cantaloupes.

Mr. Martin stated that he would begin experiments to determine if the onions would grow in Georgia soil. In Colorado, it was said, they net their growers from $400 to $1,000 an acre.

FRIGIDAIRE BRANCH HOLDS CONFERENCE WITH SALES FORCE

Sales policies and plans for the coming year are the principal items on the program for the Frigidaire dealer meeting being held here at the Henry Gandy hotel. E. H. Danforth, manager of the Atlanta branch of the Frigidaire corporation, is presiding over the meeting. The closing session will be held today.

It was announced at the meeting that 114,367 more household Frigidaires had been sold this year than in the same period in 1928, also that 70 per cent of the government's electrical refrigerator business had gone to Frigidaire and that 80 per cent of the electrically refrigerated ice cream cabinets sold was Frigidaire. The total amount of products sold to concerns in the ice cream business was estimated at $75,000,000. Several officials from the factory came here to attend the meeting.

Campaign Against Adult Illiteracy Begun at Columbus

Columbus, Ga., October 9.—(Special.)—A campaign against adult illiteracy in Columbus was launched last night at a meeting of the board of education. A letter from Dr. M. L. Duggan, state superintendent of education, to Dr. Roland B. Daniel, superintendent of local schools, was read and a committee composed of T. Hicks Fort, president of the board; Robert M. Arnold, vice president, and Mrs. Nunnally Johnson, was appointed to formulate plans for the movement. Dr. Duggan's letter urged that steps be taken immediately to remove a large number of persons from the illiterate class before the 1930 census is taken. Other cities in Georgia are expected to launch similar campaigns. The committee will make an effort to raise funds so that night classes may be held for adults who cannot read and write. Dr. Daniel said in a similar movement here some year ago 1,000 persons were taught to read and write at a cost of $1,000.

If you should lift the body of every car in Buick's field— and compare the chassis— then you too would choose The New BUICK

If you were to lift the body from the chassis of any one of a hundred cars—and compare the vitally important details of chassis design and construction—you would find Buick so outstandingly superior in all phases of fine car engineering that you would almost inevitably make Buick your choice. Here is what you would see in this famous chassis:

Buick's great new Valve-in-Head engine—developing 99 horsepower in the 124- and 132-inch models, and 80½ horsepower in the 118-inch models. The most powerful automobile engine of its size in the world. Representing 26 years of constant, aggressive improvement. Triple-sealed against wear, and incorporating such signal refinements as counterweighted crankshaft with torsion balancer, carburetor heat control and positive-pressure gas pump. Unapproached in sturdiness, all-round performance-ability, reliability and economy as well.

Buick's new Controlled Servo Enclosed Mechanical Brakes—revealing clearcut leadership over any other brakes of the day. Of the widely-favored internal-expanding type. Providing smooth, positive, silent braking, with minimum pedal pressure. Assuring absolute control of the car over all roads. And—because fully protected against dust, dirt and water—operating at maximum efficiency in any weather.

Buick's new frictionless steering gear and new Road Shock Eliminator—two advancements introduced by Buick. Providing marvelous new handling ease. The Buick wheel offering effortless control throughout its entire turning range—and the new Road Shock Eliminator assuring complete freedom from annoying jolts and jars, even over the roughest roads.

Buick's unprecedented provision for riding comfort—new, longer rear springs, and new Lovejoy Duodraulic Shock Absorbers, front and rear. Working in perfect harmony—combining to check both bound and rebound—and providing a degree of riding ease without parallel anywhere.

And, finally, such established Buick superiorities as the famous double-drop frame of finest, toughest steel... the massive side and cross members reinforced at points of stress to insure the greatest roadability and long life... the celebrated torque tube drive, Buick multiple-disc clutch, self-lubricating differential, and numerous other features.

When the list of Buick's chassis features—entirely aside from the irresistible appeal of Buick's new Fisher Bodies—reads like a roll-call of all that is soundest and best in fine car engineering... and when, in addition, you can buy a Buick for as little as $1225, f. o. b. factory... what wonder that all comparisons lead to Buick! What wonder that more than 2,000,000 people have invested their money in Buicks—and that from two to five times as many are purchasing this new Buick as any other automobile priced above $1200!

NEW PEASANT REVOLT THREATENED IN RUSSIA

Richer Peasants Leading in Reign of Murder, Arson and Sabotage.

Moscow, October 9. — (United News.)—A new reign of murder, arson and sabotage under the leadership of the richer peasants is reported spreading through hundreds of villages in soviet Russia as a reaction against the government campaign for collection of grain supplies.

Most of the warfare, which is of a guerrilla nature, is directed against the grain purchasing agents and their sympathizers and assistants, who are empowered to force peasants to sell their grain.

The poorer class of peasants generally are supporting the government and frequently force their richer neighbors to surrender hidden supplies to the agents. Men and women actively aiding in official grain purchasing plans, however, often are killed and collective farms and entire villages are set afire.

The government is meeting the reign of terror and opposition with the harshest sentences, and those caught usually are charged with counter-revolutionary activities. The collections have been better than last year, despite the opposition.

Postmaster Large Sells First Tickets For Ford Reliability Air Tour Visit Here

Postmaster E. K. Large Wednesday sold the first tickets to the Ford Reliability Air Tour arrival at Candler field Saturday afternoon and to the exhibition at the airport Sunday, while the air tour planes are in Atlanta. Those buying tickets at the main postoffice are, left to right, Mrs. J. W. Clonts, Mrs. O. L. Alderman and Mrs. G. V. Fletcher. Tickets will be on sale at the postoffice today, Friday and Saturday.

As the Ford reliability air tour Wednesday was winning its way toward Richmond, where the 41 planes rested Wednesday night, tickets for the Atlanta arrival of the planes Saturday at Candler field and the exhibition at the airport Sunday were placed on sale here in the main postoffice by Postmaster E. K. Large, who himself sold the first tickets.

The tickets, which also will be on sale today at Rich's and Friday and Saturday in 35 of the largest Rogers grocery stores in Atlanta, as well as at the Stewart-Murray soda fountain in the Aragon hotel building, and at Jacob's Marietta street and Piedmont hotel stores, are being sold for 25 cents to meet the expenses of Atlanta's entertainment to the 124 or more fliers, passengers and officials who will be the city's guests Saturday, Sunday and Monday morning. They will admit those wearing them to Candler field Saturday and Sunday.

"Thrill Thursday" event. The ticket sale at Rich's is a special "Thrill Thursday" event, as they will be offered at 15 cents each or two for a quarter. The sale at Rogers' grocery stores Friday and Saturday also will be a special inducement to those who patronize these groceries. Walter T. Candler, chairman of the Atlanta committee, said Wednesday.

Every plane which started from Detroit last Saturday morning on the 5,000-mile flight made Richmond Wednesday night with one exception, a Wallace Tour which stripped its landing gear from the fuselage in a forced landing during the day.

Besides the three women pilots, Frances Harrell, May Hazlip and Mrs. Keith Miller, an Australian, such noted national figures as Jackson and O'Brien, holders of the world's endurance refueling record; George Haldeman, who flew Ruth Elder across the Atlantic; and many others will reach Candler field Saturday afternoon from Macon.

Three Georgia Visits. Three Georgia cities will be visited by the Ford tour, Augusta receiving the planes and their pilots and passengers Friday en route to Jacksonville, where the tour will rest Friday night for the hop Saturday to Macon and Atlanta.

Plans for the reception at Candler field have been completed, everything is in readiness for the buffet dinner-dance at the Atlanta Athletic Club Saturday night and every indication points to the greatest day in Candler field's history Sunday when there will be more planes on the airport than ever before at one time, Mr. Candler stated.

The Atlanta chapter, National Aeronautical Association, which has charge of the reception and entertainment, is receiving the whole-hearted cooperation of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Atlanta council and police department, as well as many other organizations in the city.

HUGE OIL WELL BLAZE DEFIES FIRE FIGHTERS

200 Quarts of Nitro-Glycerine Will Be Used To Quell Flame.

Oklahoma City, Okla., October 9.—(Special.)—Whipping about in a stiff south breeze above the twisted mass of white-hot steel that once was the derrick over the Sinclair Oil & Gas Company's No. 3 Stamper well, the first disastrous oil well fire in the Oklahoma City pool continued tonight to blaze its defiance to veteran fire-fighters.

M. M. "Mack" Kinley and his brother, F. T. Kinley, of Tulsa, oil fire-fighters, spent the greater part of the day in removing debris from about the mouth of the well and in supervising preparations of a battery of boilers, which played heavy streams of steam and water at the base of the blaze.

Sometime late tonight or early tomorrow the Kinleys plan to place a 200-quart charge of nitroglycerine near the base of the giant torch. As they shoot the charge, the flame is expected to be blown above the blast of gas, roaring from the hole at the rate of between 40,000,000 and 50,000,000 feet daily. An additional blanket of steam, hurled under the flame, also is expected to keep the gas from again igniting.

The fire still menaced the Sinclair company's gasoline plant near the well. Other wells in the field were believed beyond danger at this time, because of a lessening of the wind, which at times had threatened to sweep the flames toward other derricks nearby.

The flaming torch was visible for almost 50 miles.

COLORED FARMER FLEEDED OF $500

The money was all that the negro had and police are making every effort to apprehend the two thieves.

Sears, Roebuck & Company Holds Fall Opening Today

With extensive improvements in its huge building completed, the Atlanta retail store of Sears, Roebuck & Co. will have its fall opening today, Friday and Saturday.

An enormous addition costing approximately $750,000 has been made to the building, the entire first floor being devoted to the retail store. It is said to be unique in this section of the country, in that there is a complete department store on one floor.

The building is 540 feet long and a wide aisle extends from one end of the store to the other. The entire first floor has been newly refinished and in celebration of this event has been arranged with harvest decorations.

Parking Space Provided.
Ample parking space has been provided at the store. Recent enlargement of the lot affords accommodation now for several hundred cars. This fact is considered quite important by the management of the store, as a large percentage of the customers come from neighboring towns.

Demonstrations, many of which will prove of educational value, will be the feature of the opening. This will include models in the ready-to-wear, millinery and shoe departments. Demonstrations will be given in home sewing, toilet goods, care of babies, radio, musical instruments, candy, electrical appliances, sporting goods, interior decorating, washing machines, vacuum cleaners, typewriters, automobile tires and accessories, batteries, paints and lacquers, hardware and carpenter tools, plumbing equipment, broom making, furniture upholstery, mattress making and home cooking. The cooking demonstrations will be conducted by Mrs. Anna Bearse three times daily, from 10 to 12 o'clock, 2 to 4 o'clock and 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock.

In charge of the company's interests in Atlanta and the southeast is J. H. Beall. He says that the company is highly appreciative of the patronage of Atlanta and this section, the growth in the business having been responsible for the big addition to the plant. Also, he says that the results obtained here show that the officials of the company did not make a mistake in choosing Atlanta as the logical point of distribution in the southeast.

As regional retail manager, R. W. Webb has charge of all the retail stores in the southeast. He has directed the opening and operation of many of the new stores in this region. Under his direction now are 31 stores.

Retail Store Manager.
Arthur Wassner is manager of the Atlanta retail store. For 25 years he has been identified with the department stores of Atlanta and has been with Sears, Roebuck & Co. for the past year in an executive capacity. He has been manager of this store since April, before that having been in charge of opening new stores. With the store enlarged, Mr. Wassner says that much better service will result. All of the officials of the store have their homes in Atlanta and the management announces that 98 percent of the employees are Atlanta people. Every effort is exerted to make the store an Atlanta institution. It is said, and wherever possible merchandise and supplies are bought here.

MOTOR BUS OPERATORS ASKED TO LEARN LAWS

Importance of Familiarity With Regulation Stressed by J. A. Perry.

The importance of those operating motor bus lines in Georgia familiarizing themselves with the laws and regulations governing the motor carriers was stressed by James A. Perry, chairman of the Georgia public service commission, in a statement issued Wednesday.

The statement follows:
"The new law regulating the transportation of persons and property over the highways in Georgia by motor vehicles is working satisfactorily. Quite to be expected, there has been some misunderstanding of its application, especially in some disposition, though slight, in different territories to ignore the law. This latter view, I am sure, will be short lived. In the familiarity, fact, almost without exception, the law has been well received by the parties engaged in the business. We have exerted ourselves to mail all necessary information to every one interested, but apparently in some instances the necessary time has not been given to an understanding of the meaning of the law, rules and regulations of the commission."

"It is of the utmost importance that all those operating such business, especially the drivers of the trucks and buses should be thoroughly familiar with the law and the rules of the commission. The importance of this cannot be over-estimated.
"One of the important constructions calling for repeated announcements to the public and the commission has definitely set forth is: Does a person transporting property for one individual, or a given business and no one else, have to qualify under the motor carrier act. The commission has held, and so announced, at different times on yesterday, that where a person is transporting property for the business of an individual, a given partnership or a corporation, and does not at any time haul for anyone else, and does not have to comply with the act."

"It is now generally known that motor vehicles engaged solely in transporting school children and teachers does not come under the act. It is also generally known that one engaged exclusively in transporting agricultural, horticultural or dairy, or other farm products from the point of production to market, when such motor vehicle is owned or operated by the manufacturer of such products does not come under the act."

"The question of operating between fixed termini is not one of consideration. The law regulates anyone engaged in the business of transporting persons or property, either or both, for hire by motor vehicles on any public highway in this state."

"The commission was called on yesterday to decide whether an undertaking comes under the act. The commission held that an undertaking is not required to observe the act.
"Another common misunderstanding is that if one engaged, generally, in a transfer business within the city limits of a given municipality, but who occasionally and as opportunity presents, make trips to various sections of the state, that the act does not require such one to qualify for these occasional trips. This is an erroneous construction. The commission has held that one holding himself out to transport such property as tendered, though primarily engaged in a general transfer business in a given municipality, is required to comply with the act."

G. S. W. C. ERECTS BUILDING BY SAVING ON OPERATION COST

The Georgia State Woman's college has been able to construct a dormitory from savings in school operations, it was disclosed Wednesday in the report of an audit of the school made public by Tom Wisdom, state auditor.

A total of $63,000 had been spent up to July 1 of this year, the close of the period of the audit, on the building.

The income of the school from state appropriations was shown to be $156,250; from matriculation fees, $39,405.50; board, $225,946.83; and from miscellaneous sources, $17,415.91. The total income was $539,018.24.

Disbursements included $205,678.84 for salaries; $31,725.75 for provisions; $32,658.69 for building repairs; $26,426.44 for summer school expenses, exclusive of salaries, and $14,671.31 for furniture and fixtures. The total of disbursements was $551,561.84.

The report showed a total enrollment of 1,659 students.

APPEAL OF FAIR, DOOMED SLAYER, IS HEARD AGAIN

The Georgia supreme court Wednesday heard for an appeal by Fred D. Fair from a death sentence for the murder of J. E. McDaniel, Atlanta policeman.

The first conviction of Fair, which also resulted in a death sentence, was reversed by the supreme court last April. The second trial was in May.

Two alleged errors were pointed out by Len B. Guillbeau, Fair's attorney, before the court Wednesday. The first was the refusal of the Fulton superior court to give certain charges asked by the defense; and the second was the oral charge of Judge G. H. Howard, in which the defense charges he discussed the evidence and expressed conclusions prejudicial to Fair.

Fair contends that McDaniel was shot accidentally.

PARDON FOR GILLON IS RECOMMENDED BY PRISON BOARD

By a unanimous vote Wednesday the state prison board recommended a pardon for George H. Gillon, Atlanta attorney, who is serving a two and one-half to a four-year sentence for embezzlement.

The recommendation, together with the file containing the record of the case, were sent to the office of Governor L. G. Hardman for his consideration.

Gillon was convicted of larceny after trust at the December term of the Fulton superior court last year after entering a plea of guilty. Evidence was presented before the pardon board to the effect that Gillon, at the time of his trial, was unable physically to go through the ordeal of a protracted legal fight.

At the present time, at Monroe, he is confined to a hospital. Further confinement, it was said, would render his recovery impossible.

Once Proud Clipper Ship, 'Nancy Hanks, Blazing Hulk'

BLACK CAT JINX TO TROUBLE BOAT NO MORE

Miami, Fla., October 9.—(AP)—A black cat, which seamen believed brought continued misadventure to the ship and her crew, will trouble the once proud clipper, Nancy Hanks, no more.

The schooner, aground at the entrance of Miami harbor since 1926, was being gutted to day by fire as mysterious as many of the misfortunes that pursued the Nancy Hanks in many parts of the seven seas.

Like other misfortunes that have pursued her, the flames appeared stubborn, defying even rain squalls to check them. Firemen from Miami Beach stood helplessly by as the great hulk burned. They said the smoke and fumes incited oil-soaked timbers.

As the fire raged, sending skyward great billows of smoke that could be seen for miles, old seamen on the waterfront exchanged wise winks and called it "a good fire that can lay the ghost of the Nancy Hanks."

Excerpts from the log of the Nancy Hanks provide a basis for sailors' belief that the clipper was "a haunted ship." Bound from New York for Durban during the World War, she sprang a strange leak. Two days later the master discovered the porthole wedges had been loosened. The next day a storm nearly wrecked her, but she managed to limp into Durban weeks later.

There a cargo of mahogany was loaded but the captain, experienced great difficulty in signing a crew. Finally the return voyage was begun but soon after putting to sea storms plagued the heavily loaded schooner and all but two members of the crew were stricken with fever.

The log makes mention of a strange black cat seen about the ship—a fore-runner of trouble, and a sailor is recorded as vowing that he saw the cat tossed overboard in the storm, after which the waves abated.

The Nancy Hanks went aground here three years ago. She reached the harbor outside but was forced to remain outside because of an overruled schooner blocking the channel. As she waited, the crew deserted. The master was unable to recruit another and the ship drifted ashore and was abandoned.

Two-drawing room, three compartment observation sleeping car, one dining car and one postal car.

The exteriors of all the cars in the trains will be painted in two shades of green and will be lettered "Crescent Limited." The interior decorations will include the latest developments of the Pullman car designers, the entire trains representing the last word in passenger car construction.

LAST RITES HELD FOR REMER GROOVER

Thomasville, Ga., October 9.—(Special).—Funeral services were held here this afternoon from the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Groover, for Remer Tullis Groover, 34, who died in this city Tuesday morning after a long illness. Rev. Robt. White, Jr., rector of St. Thomas Episcopal church here, officiated and the interment was in Laurel Hill cemetery.

He said Fox asked whether they couldn't "hang something" on Mayor Walker, declaring "this is the political season, and the pot must be kept boiling." Cohen said he told Fox he knew nothing about Mayor Walker at the casino, having only seen him there once for a half hour at lunch.

Last Tuesday he said Sulzer again called him and sent him to Fox, who questioned him in the presence of three reputed newspapermen about the management of the casino. He said he knew nothing about the alleged loan until he read it in the newspapers the next day.

Cohen said that after publication of the story he attempted to see Fox and then called on Sulzer, who after a telephone conversation with the right said, "Go up to Enright's office and help them out on this and verify it."

Efforts to reach Sulzer, Fox and Enright for comment on Cohen's statement were unsuccessful last night. Sulzer was impeached as governor in 1913 after a break with the late Charles F. Murphy, then leader of Tammany Hall. Fox, an attorney, was one of the original Hoover-presidential men in New York state and since then has been active in local republican politics.

The Advertising Club of Atlanta will hold its regular weekly luncheon meeting today on the mezzanine floor of the Wineoff hotel. The meeting will begin at 12:30 o'clock, and the chairman, E. V. Dunbar, promises that it will end promptly at 1:30 o'clock.

John K. Ottley, Jr., manager in Atlanta for Pittman Aviation, Inc., will be the principal speaker. He will have as his subject, "Air Mail Service, Into and Out of Atlanta." Mr. Ottley's talk, it is expected, will prove of particular benefit to the advertising fraternity, and all those interested are urged to attend.

'INFORMANT' DENIES WALKER LOAN REPORT

Cohen Hangs Lie On Story of Casino Loan to Mayor.

New York, October 9.—(AP)—Branding as an "absolute falsehood" the story of a $2,000 loan to Mayor James J. Walker by the management of the Central Park casino, Jack Cohen, the reputed informant, today brought the names of former Governor William Sulzer and Alan Fox into the controversy.

The story of the alleged loan was told in the form of an inquiry by former Police Commissioner Richard E. Enright, mayoralty candidate of the square deal party, who named Cohen as his informant.

Denial that Mayor Walker ever had borrowed any money from the casino management was made by Sidney Solomon, the lessee, and the mayor, who challenged Enright to rephrase his inquiry so as to make it actionable under the libel laws. This Enright declined to do.

Cohen, former house detective at the casino, in a statement said Sulzer sent for him about six weeks ago and said he wanted him to meet a "big shot" in the republican party by the name of Alan Fox who he was told by Sulzer was backing Enright's campaign.

He said Fox asked whether they couldn't "hang something" on Mayor Walker, declaring "this is the political season, and the pot must be kept boiling." Cohen said he told Fox he knew nothing about Mayor Walker at the casino, having only seen him there once for a half hour at lunch.

Hair Rats Are Gone! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

Modern woman, freed of the restraint of long tresses, realizes the comfort and sanitation of the bobbed head. The shears in the hands of AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE have severed the bonds of another archaic dogma.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

The meeting will open tomorrow and will continue until October 18, being addressed by prominent speakers, including Elihu Root and Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, under whose auspices the institute came to this country.

The institute members were escorted from Europe by Professor James Brown Scott, secretary general of the Carnegie Endowment, and professor of international law in the school of foreign service at Georgetown university.

After the Briarcliff sessions the delegates will come to New York to stay for three days before visiting Washington. They plan to return to Europe October 25.

Among the visitors are Dr. Walter Simons, former vice president of the German republic; Sir Cecil Hurst, former judicial adviser to the British court and present judge of the permanent court of international justice at The Hague; and Jose Yanguas Mesa, president of the Spanish national assembly.

TAR, FEATHERS DECORATE NOTED LONDON STATUE

London, October 9.—(AP)—Jacob Epstein's statue "Him," which has been the center of many fights in artistic circles since its erection in Hyde park in 1925, was found this morning covered with tar and feathers.

The statue, which is a memorial to W. H. Hudson, the famous naturalist, was also disfigured with green paint shortly after its unveiling.

The memorial, which is hidden in what is known as birds' sanctuary, is "expressionistic" in character. The figure in the center is inspired by the fairy-like Rima, of Green Mansions, but newspaper critics at the time declared that it was a "superstition, brutal-looking figure with queer anatomy." Controversy over the memorial raged for some time.

U. S. ARCHITECT WINS IN CONTEST WITH UNIVERSITY

Brussels, Belgium, October 9.—(AP)—The authorities here today issued a finding in favor of Whitney Warren, American architect, against the University of Louvain and have ordered the balustrade designed by Mr. Warren replaced immediately at the expense of the university. The judgment will be pronounced by the Louvain court.

Mr. Warren brought suit against the University of Louvain last year growing out of a dispute over a balustrade designed by Mr. Warren who was architect for the rebuilt Louvain library. This balustrade contained a Latin inscription stating that the library had been "destroyed by Teutonic fury."

Controversy over the inscription raged for some time and the university authorities finally placed a facade upon the library which did not bear the disputed words.

ORLEANS MAN SHOT BY BANDIT DURING TUSSE

New Orleans, October 9.—(AP)—Shot by a bandit with whom he grappled during an attempted hold-up of his brother's drugstore last night, Albert L. Grossman was today in a serious condition, with one bullet in his lung and another in a leg.

Meanwhile police spurred by the latest addition to the long list of recent bandit depredations here, were combing the city for suspects. They were urged on by sharp warnings from Superintendent of Police Theodore Ray.

Last night a lone hold-up man entered the Grossman drugstore and commanded the eight persons therein, including a three-year-old child, not to move. Peter Grossman, proprietor of the store, dashed up a flight of rear stairs to his apartment and the bandit, stepping over the proprietor's son, aged three, who was playing on the floor, fired one shot at the fleeing man, but failed to hit him.

Albert Grossman then grappled with the intruder, but the latter got one arm loose and fired two shots, both of which took effect, and ran out of the store, a moment later, escaping in an automobile. He got no money.

ONE IN HOSPITAL TWO ARE JAILED IN GUN AFFRAY

Tampa, Fla., October 9.—(AP)—One man was in a hospital in a critical condition, two were in jail and a fourth was at liberty, as the result of a "friendly" argument in which the first three were wounded in the legs.

As police explained the affray, Charles Carter, D. L. Smith and G. B. Spein, all said to be under the influence of liquor, met on a corner last night and commenced to quarrel. Spein opened fire on the other two, wounding them in the limbs as they ran. W. H. Todd, connected with federal prohibition forces, passing in an automobile, ordered Spein to surrender. He opened fire on Todd and the latter retaliated, wounding Spein in the left leg. Carter was taken to the hospital with a severed artery.

MRS. ALMA CRISP SUES FOR DIVORCE AND FOR ALIMONY

Charging that her husband paid too much attention to another woman, Mrs. Alma G. Crisp Wednesday in Fulton superior court filed suit for divorce against W. G. Crisp, cafe and soda company owner. Mrs. Crisp was given a temporary restraining order by Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy to restrain Crisp from disposing of business interests in which the plaintiff claims a property right. Mrs. Crisp asks for custody of their daughter, Betty Clyde Crisp, 4, and for alimony. The petition was filed by Harwell, Fairman and Barrett.

PLAN IMPROVEMENT OF ACOUSTICS AT COURTHOUSE

Offer of the Johns-Manville corporation to improve acoustics of the grand jury and civil commissioners' courtrooms in the Fulton county courthouse in order that street noises will not interfere with transaction of business was accepted Wednesday by the board of county commissioners at a special meeting.

The work is to cost $2,800. Asbestos acoustical felt will be removed from the plaster and will be covered with a light muslin membrane. Plaster moldings will be removed from the upper walls and replaced with wood moldings of similar design. The grand jury recently tried out voice amplification in an effort to overcome street noises, but abandoned this method.

CO-EDS WILL PLAY IN MERCER GLEE CLUB THIS YEAR

Macon, Ga., October 9.—(Special.)—The Mercer Players, student dramatic organization, will use co-eds this year instead of female impersonators for the first time in the history of the club, according to Archie Grinolds, president.

At the first meeting of the club yesterday, it was also decided that instead of giving one three-act play they will offer three one-act plays. One of them, "The Valiant," by Holworthy Hall and Robert Middleton, has already been decided on and two are yet to be selected.

It is the intention of the club to play only in women's colleges this year. A trip is being planned to Cuba during the Christmas holidays.

Florida Strawberry Growers See Lower Rates, Faster Service

Tampa, Fla., October 9.—(AP)—Winter strawberry growers of Florida expect to secure faster service at lower rates for their crop sent to northern markets this season, as a result of a bid by a new competitor for their business, according to prominent growers in the Plant City section.

The Southern Railway and the Southeastern Express Company, it was learned today, have offered Bradford county growers express refrigerator service to eastern and other markets, using equipment of the Pennsylvania railway system, and are expected to extend the offer to other sections.

The growers claim that the American Railway Express Company, ordered by the state railroad commission, to provide such express service by December 1, have placed no orders for equipment and not indicated intention of doing so.

100 Volunteers Take Field In Preliminary Chest Drive

More than 100 volunteer workers were in the field Wednesday in preliminary phases of the annual appeal of the Atlanta Community Chest for public support. While the general public canvass will not be held until October 21 to 25, the campaign organization, developed on a plan to make the task easier for both workers and the public, has undertaken in advance an appeal to business houses, asking them to accept quotas of one-half to one per cent of their annual payrolls, and a solicitation of individuals from whom large gifts are expected.

It was for these workers that Roy LeCraw, general campaign chairman, Wednesday night asked the consideration of business executives and individuals whose ears they seek with the message of every person's obligation to help support the city's necessary program of helpfulness and social service.

"These preliminary activities were arranged to make the campaign easier for Atlanta," said Mr. LeCraw. "They were planned for convenience of the public, and to prevent a disturbance of Atlanta's normal functions, that might occur if everything were concentrated in a single week's canvass."

"This being so, we'd like to ask business men and others to whom our workers apply, to grant them conferences without delay. They are busy men and women themselves, and they are serving in this work as volunteers, out of a sense of obligation that every one should do his utmost to prevent the menace of human suffering, to assure shelter and care for homeless little children, and to protect the old and the sick who otherwise would have no refuge."

"Please don't make them wait. And please listen to their message, because it concerns the obligation of every human being to lend a helping hand to a less fortunate neighbor. They are on the community's business, which in this connection is humanity's business."

The preliminary phases of the campaign are in charge of J. C. Malone, as chairman of the advance gifts committee, charged with solicitation of the larger contributors, and Jackson P. Dick, head of the groups division, which is engaging the support of all business establishments and offices employing 50 or more persons. Each of these has assembled a strong organization of volunteer workers, and each is driving home the arguments that the Community Chest has been built on lines of economy and efficiency.

Reduction of Cost. Reduction of the cost of charity and social service administration in Atlanta from 40 per cent, as when each of the welfare agencies operated separately, to 8 per cent under the business methods of the chest, is one of the details of information imparted in this appeal for support of the chest and its 33 societies.

"For the first seven months of 1929," says the campaign information in another detail, "a total of 122,876 persons; or an average of 17,554 a month, have been served by the chest, not one worthy case applying for relief having been refused."

Explaining the needs and purposes of the chest, Frank Miller, executive director, said Wednesday that the idea was to be corrected that the chest is an office where applicants for relief are given money to meet their necessities.

"The chest is composed of more than a score of relief and child-care service agencies which give specific kinds of needed help," said Mr. Miller. "The chest clears and assigns cases referred to it to those various societies for treatment. It confers with the client and the society respecting the nature of the case and follows up on his investigation and treatment by the society to which the client is referred."

"The chest receives reports and has conferences with the society until a plan of treatment is laid and found practicable. The chest method is directed until a plan of treatment is laid and found practicable. The chest method is directed to a co-ordinated service, hence uses the proper societies but does not dispense relief from its office or by its exchange."

Negro Exhibit at Lakewood Found Interesting to Visitor

BY R. B. ELEAZER.

To the observer with imagination and insight the negro exhibit occupying the first floor of the Agricultural building at the Southeastern Fair in progress this week may well claim a place of primary interest. It is intensely interesting on the surface, for that matter, but to one who sees what lies back of and beneath it and who visualizes something of the future that it suggests, it becomes a matter of deep sociological and human significance. For, as no other section of the fair, the negro exhibit represents ambition in the face of discouragement, achievement against odds, and determined effort to use to the best possible advantage the opportunities for progress which the present offers. The displays, covering closely 2,000 feet of floor space, are the products of several lines of educational and welfare work for negroes that are being carried in the state. Among these agencies some of the more important are:

(1) The extension work conducted under the auspices of the State College of Agriculture, supported jointly by counties, the state and the government, and directed locally by negro farm and home demonstration agents. The former, of whom there are 14 now employed for work in 19 counties, are teaching the negro farmers of Georgia to be more intelligent, more efficient and more prosperous, through agricultural institutes, farm and live stock demonstrations, club work, etc. In this way they reached directly last year no less than 7,638 persons and doubtless many times that number indirectly. The value of their work is to be seen in the remarkable exhibits of farm products of every character, including 8,000 ears of excellent corn and hundreds of pieces of bacon scientifically cured and perfectly preserved.

Demonstration Agents.

The negro home demonstration agents, of whom there are 21 at work in the state, are well-trained women who are teaching thousands of colored women and girls the arts of making their homes more attractive, efficient and wholesome. In the 4-H Clubs alone these agents have enlisted no less than 5,000 girls in a four-year course in cooking, canning, sewing, nursing and other arts of home-making. Hundreds of cans of fruits and vegetables, perfectly packed and preserved, and thousands of pieces of artistic needlework testify to the effectiveness of this part of the extension program. In a sentence it may be said that the purpose of the farm demonstration agent is to teach negro farmers how "to make a living on the farm," while that of the home demonstration agent is to teach negro farm women and girls how "to make a life."

(2) Another interesting series of exhibits are those growing out of the work of the "Smith-Hughes" teachers of vocational agriculture who, like the demonstration agents, are supported jointly by local, state and federal funds. These teachers are conducting classes in 43 schools and last year enrolled 1,745 pupils in farm projects which produced crops and live stock valued at $112,301. Coming out of these classes are not only fine displays of agricultural products, but some beautiful examples of cabinet-making and other manual arts. Some what parallel is the work of the "Jennies" supervising teachers," of whom there are 28 now employed in as many counties.

(3) Most important of all, because most fundamental, are the school exhibits proper, which are amazing in variety and beauty. That of the Booker Washington High school, of Atlanta is especially complete, and indicates a remarkably efficient and comprehensive program of training for life. In addition to a very fine display of academic work, there is also a bewildering variety of products made by the students in carpentry, brick-laying, mechanics, cooking, tailoring, dressmaking, millinery, nursing, etc. Of particular interest are the products sent up by the Atlanta negro night schools which enroll 4,000 pupils, some of them 60 years of age, who have no other opportunity of getting the needed training of which they feel the need. The schools of Fulton county and of Decatur, the A. & M. school at Forsyth, the Fort Valley High and industrial and other schools have interesting showings, while the displays from Morehouse and Spelman colleges bring the educational exhibits to a fitting climax.

As an indication of negro progress in other lines there are on display a "five-foot shelf" of books by negro authors, a number of newspapers and magazines published by negroes in Georgia, and some creditable paintings, crayons, and water colors by local negro artists. There are also some interesting placards giving the facts about the various agencies referred to above, and about the Rosendal school program in Georgia, which has resulted so far in the erection of 203 modern negro schools. All who are concerned for the welfare and future of negroes in Georgia will find this section of the fair most interesting and encouraging.

Senate Curbs President's Power on Tariff

Do we want a Mussolini in the White House? demanded a Southern Democratic paper while the fight was on in the Senate to take away from President Hoover his power to change tariff rates under the "flexible" clause of the law; and a Southern Democratic Senator assailed the President's plea for the retention of this authority as a "reassertion of the divine right of the King." At the same time the eight Democratic members of the Senate Finance Committee issued an appeal to the American people "to take a broad public view" of the issue since the question "strikes at the very roots of constitutional government."

Republican papers generally ridiculed the idea that President Hoover would prove a "tariff autocrat" if allowed to retain his present power over rates. "The attitude of President Hoover whether he wins or loses in the long run, is the proper one" says the Philadelphia Inquirer (Rep.).

The outcome of the Senate vote—47 to 42—overrode the President's expressed wish and transferred to Congress the power to change tariff duties on the recommendation of the Tariff Commission. "The Digest" this week presents all sides of the case clearly and brilliantly. Other outstanding features in this number are:

RAISING LEGATIONS TO EMBASSIES TALKED

Polish Minister and President Hoover Discuss Plan at Washington.

Washington, October 9.—(AP)—Elevation of the American legation in Warsaw and the Polish legation in Washington to the rank of embassy is being considered by the Polish and American governments.

President Hoover has discussed the question with the Polish minister, Tadeusz Filipowicz, who now ranks as a "special ambassador" for the forthcoming ceremonies commemorating the 15th anniversary of the death of General Pulaski of Revolutionary fame.

Presentation of the minister's credentials for the special rank drew from the president an expression of hope that it would be made permanent. The minister replied that the Warsaw government would exchange diplomats of ambassadorial rank whenever the American government desired.

Establishment of an embassy in Warsaw would require congressional action, since it would involve increasing the salary of $10,000 now paid annually to John B. Stetson, as minister to the $17,500 an ambassador would receive.

The raising of the Warsaw post would make Poland the fifteenth nation with which the United States maintains relations through an ambassador. Poland now exchanges ambassadors with France, Italy and the Holy See.

It is expected that the present Polish minister would be continued in Washington as ambassador because of his intimate knowledge of the country. Several names have been mentioned in diplomatic circles in connection with the proposed new post at Warsaw for the United States, including John B. Willes, automobile manufacturer of Toledo, Ohio, and Edwin Laughlin, of Pittsburgh, Pa., formerly American minister to Greece.

President Hoover is considering both of these men for diplomatic appointment. At the same time, it is considered possible that Mr. Hoover might desire to promote Mr. Stetson and keep him at Warsaw.

FLORIDA SHERIFF STARTS "CLEAN UP" DRIVE ON LIQUOR

Tallahassee, Fla., October 9.—(AP)—A campaign against the sale of liquor in Broward county has been instituted by Sheriff A. W. Turner following the recent shooting of M. X. Shaw and wife, filling station proprietors.

Governor Doyle was advised to that effect by Sheriff Turner, it was learned today, after the governor had been asked by R. J. Condon, of the internal revenue department, to investigate the shooting.

Shaw and his wife were seriously wounded several days ago when two men stopped at their filling station, located near Hollywood. One of the men ordered a sandwich and then opened fire, Shaw told physicians, bullets striking both himself and his wife. Shaw said the men had apparently been drinking.

In a letter to the governor following the investigation order, Sheriff Turner said that several raids had been conducted in the county since the occurrence, but that he had been "handcuffed" in closing up the liquor traffic by the reluctance of the county judge in issuing search warrants. The judge, Fred B. Shippey, the sheriff's report said, had demanded the production of proof of the existence of liquor before he would issue the warrants.

MAN IS SOUGHT BY POLICE FOR WOMAN'S DEATH

Knoxville, Tenn., October 9.—(AP)—Knoxville police were searching today for a man said to be A. J. Moore in connection with the death of Mrs. Julia Aulton, 25, whose decomposed body was found in a thicket near here more than a month ago.

Detectives quoted Mrs. Fannie Irwin, a sister of Mrs. Aulton, as saying she saw Moore stab her as the three of them were out walking last August 17. It was said that she described a quarrel between Moore and Mrs. Aulton that preceded the slaying.

The body was found by school boys and Moore was arrested soon afterward, but was released after an investigation.

Police here expressed belief that Moore had gone to North Carolina and authorities in that state have been asked to search for him.

Officers said Mrs. Irwin explained her silence since August as due to fear which she said was aroused by Moore's threat "to do the same thing" to her if she told.

Harvey E. Wilson, of the missing man, could furnish Kearney police with no motive for his father's disappearance. He said he had been in good health and to his knowledge had no enemies. He added that when his father left home Monday he had with him a large sum of money.

POWER OF MILITARY FACES COURT TEST

Right To Hold Prisoners Without Bond To Be Decided by Judge.

Borger, Texas, October 9.—(AP)—While military authorities carried forward their campaign to smash the alleged crime ring in this community district Attorney Clem Calhoun and the legal staff of the "army of occupation," administering martial law here, prepared today for a court battle over their right to hold prisoners without bond.

To date 14 prisoners, arrested under general order No. 6, have been held without bond. The general order says that prisoners so held are not to be released until the criminal ring is exterminated.

Seven of the prisoners held under the order have sought, and obtained, a hearing on their applications for writs of habeas corpus. The hearings are to be held in district court at Stinnett, Texas, tomorrow. One of the applicants already is at liberty, having been granted $1,000 bond last night when it was determined that she had no actual connection with the offense for which she was held.

Calhoun refused to comment formally on the coming legal battle but indicated he had no doubt a military commander, under martial law, could hold a prisoner as long as he felt necessary, if the prisoner obstructed his mission. All of the applicants for habeas corpus were arrested for liquor law violations.

In the meantime federal investigators working in the Panhandle have concluded that Borger is merely one of several communities where vendors of illicit liquor have meddled in elections and have profited under tolerant enforcement conditions.

Federal District Attorney Alex Mood said that he had received numerous complaints from Gray and Potter counties and Acting United States Marshal Doug Campbell said that Borger had been "picked on."

Although the military court of inquiry has been pushing its investigation of the assassination September 12 of District Attorney John A. Holmes, the crime that precipitated martial law here has been relegated to the background in public interest recently by other affairs. The deliberations of the committee are secret and it is probable that its findings will not be announced until they are used in evidence.

FRENCH POLICE PROBE RUSSIAN
EMBASSY TROUBLE

Paris, October 9.—(AP)—The French police today began a quiet investigation of activities at the Russian embassy which produced the hasty escape over the embassy wall of M. Besedowsky, acting as charge d'affaires, on October 3. M. Besedowsky then said that an agent of the Soviet secret police had accused him of political heresies and ordered him to return to Moscow.

The diplomat was later accused of irregularities in his accounts by the embassy. To this he replied that a reign of terror for moderate communists had been instituted by Moscow agents in the Paris embassy.

The police, who rescued Madame Besedowsky and her child on October 3, were asked to investigate a report that a G. P. U. agent named Rosenmann had entered France under an assumed name, erasing passport regulations.

FISHING SMACK IS SUNK IN GALES OFF FLORIDA COAST

Tarpon Springs, Fla., October 9.—(AP)—A boat believed to be a Cuban four-masted fishing smack, has been reported sunk in eleven fathoms of water about 25 miles west of Anclote Lighthouse, near here. The report was brought to Tarpon Springs by the crew of the Apalachicola, a sponge boat, which docked here today.

The top mast of the sunken vessel was sighted about 12 feet out of water yesterday morning by the sponge boat, which was heading for Tarpon Springs. This is the second boat reported lost near here and is thought to have gone down in the recent gales on the gulf. No information was given by the crew of the Apalachicola as to the fate of the crew of the sunken vessel.

ADDRESSEES OF OLD LETTERS ARE SOUGHT

Little Rock, Ark., October 9.—(AP)—After a delay of more than 64 years, an attempt is to be made to deliver 19 letters written by Confederate prisoners of war at Camp Chase, military prison, Columbus, Ohio, and addressed to persons then living in Arkansas.

A list of the addressees has been sent to Mrs. John F. Weinmann, president of the Arkansas Division, United Daughters of the Confederacy. No reason was given for the delay in delivery and it is not known where the letters have been all of these years.

They were placed in the custody of Mrs. Albert S. Porter, Lakewood, Ohio, by an act of the Ohio legislature last February. Mrs. Porter is president of the Ohio division, United Daughters of the Confederacy.

It is said the letters were not written with the idea of smuggling them through the lines, as they complied with the prison regulations as to length and content.

"BOTTLES" CAPONE,
BROTHER OF AL,
ALSO BEHIND BARS

Chicago, October 9.—(AP)—Ralph (Bottles) Capone, brother of Al (Scarface) Capone now in a Philadelphia jail, himself, was in a cell today, a federal prisoner. The charge is that Capone attempted to defraud the government in the matter of his 1927 income tax report.

Capone was arrested last night at the Chicago stadium, where he had gone to witness a fight card. He turned his fight tickets over to a companion and was taken to the federal building. His lawyer appeared to inquire about posting bond, but left when bond was fixed at $50,000. Capone said it would be several days before he could raise that sum, and he gave his attorney the diamonds he was wearing and his tickets to today's world series baseball game.

The government contends that "Bottles" Capone banked $974,000 in 1927 and later declared himself unable to pay back income taxes of $5,682.73. He offered to compromise at $1,000, and when the offer was refused he declared himself insolvent. The arrest last night was on a warrant charging that Capone had $25,000 at the time he said he was insolvent.

OSWEGANS WALK TO WORK WHEN BUSSES SEIZED

Oswego, N. Y., October 9.—(AP)—Inhabitants of Oswego walked to work this morning, the 11 busses which make up its transportation system having been impounded during the night by Sheriff Charles H. Nichols acting with a representative of the Mack Truck Company, to which the Oswego County Bus Company, Inc., owes $17,000 on its busses.

Seizure of the trucks followed unsuccessful negotiations between representatives of both companies and the local chamber of commerce in order to delay the confiscation. The chamber today was preparing to lay the matter before the public service commission in an attempt to have that body order resumption of transportation. Thousands of workers reported late at their offices and factories.

METHODISTS TO MEET

The conference will be presided over by Bishop Charles Edward Locke, of St. Paul, Minn.

Arrangements for the entertainment of the visitors, which include about eight ministers and lay members, are being made by local church members, and Rev. W. A. McGarity, the minister in charge of the local church.

CROWD, FOUND

Chicago, October 9.—(AP)—A costly diamond brooch fell unnoticed from the dress of Mrs. Stanley Field as she jostled her way through the crowd at the gate of Wrigley field to attend yesterday's world series ball game.

Mrs. Field discovered her loss after entering her box, and told a companion. A woman in the next box overheard and asked Mrs. Field what kind of a brooch it was. Mrs. Field described it, and the woman handed her the brooch.

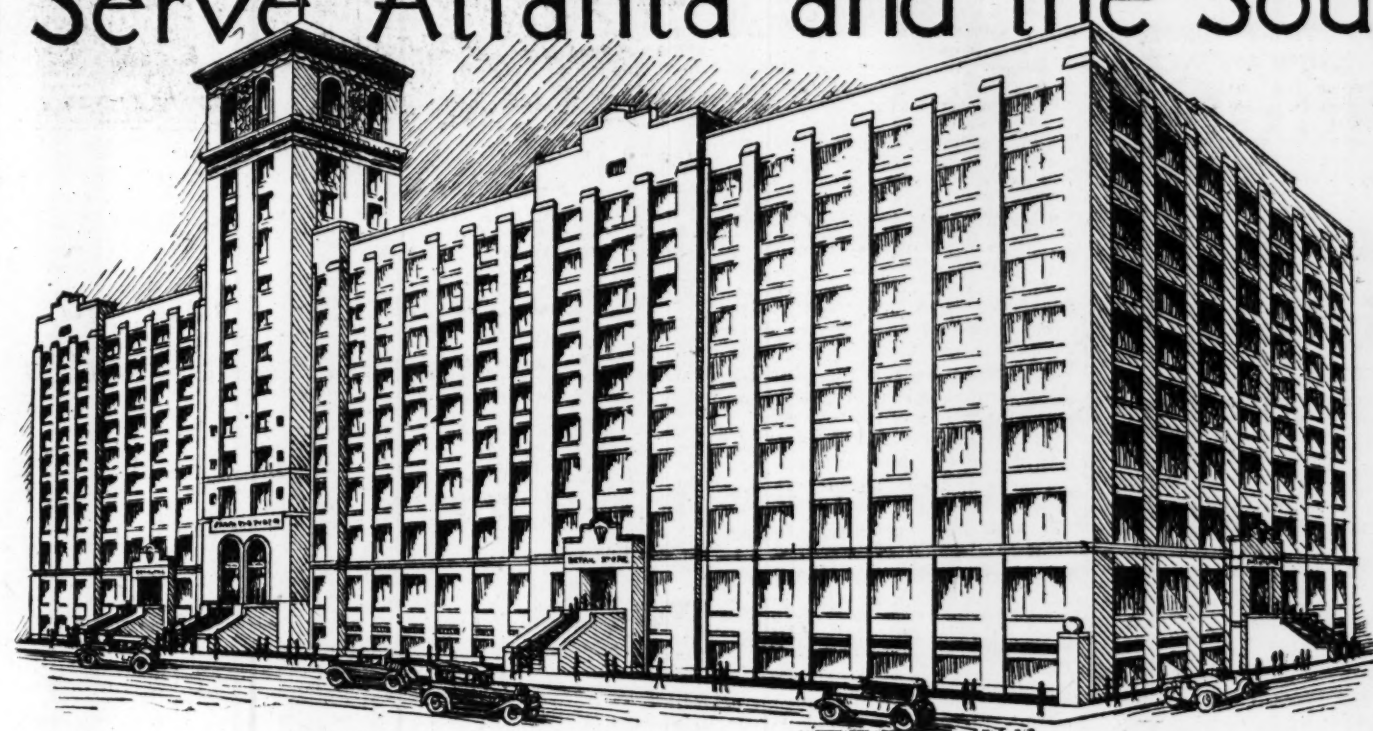

Out of 50,000 persons in the park, the brooch had been picked up by one of the few persons within earshot of Mrs. Field's voice.

Catarrh Robs Patient of Vital Resistance

Find a man, woman or child who is afflicted with catarrh of the nose and its connecting air passages and you will always find a patient who is most susceptible to more serious diseases. Why? Science explains that catarrh interferes with natural breathing, thus preventing proper purification of the blood by the lungs and also prevents refreshing sleep. Catarrh is a constant drain upon the nutrition of the body, making the patient weak and thereby susceptible to diseases such as head and chest colds.

Your physician will tell you that catarrh is a local condition, not a systemic disease. Your most fight it constantly with a local remedy that reaches the spot. Of the many remedies that have been tested by Nose and Throat Specialists to relieve the irritation and reduce the congestion of the mucous membrane the most effective and agreeable are those contained in the preparation known to your druggist as Runion's White Wonder Salve. Applied in the nostrils, morning and night, Runion's White Wonder Salve gives quick and most delightful relief from the irritation and congestion. Clean, greaseless and absolutely stainless, Runion's Salve is a perfect example of the finest pharmaceutical art—a joy and comfort to everyone who suffers with catarrhal irritation of the nose and throat.

Ask your druggist for Runion's White Wonder Salve today or mail thirty-five cents for a family jar postpaid. White Wonder Chemical Company, 53 Greil Bldg., Montgomery, Ala. Our slogan—"Perfect satisfaction or your money back." (adv.)

POULTRY EXHIBIT AT FAIR PRAISED
BY JUDGE WISE

Surprise and gratification at the size of the poultry show at the Southeastern Fair was expressed Wednesday by Judge M. C. Wise, of Greenwood, S. C., who is officiating as poultry judge. Judge Wise said that the quality of the poultry on exhibition compares favorably with anything of the kind he has seen in the south.

The south is gradually coming into her own in the breeding of fine poultry, the climate in this section being ideal for poultry raising, he said. Judge Wise expects to see a large number of the country in the poultry industry within the next few years.

Because of lack of space, a number of entries for the poultry show were turned down, and officials of the fair have promised a larger poultry building for next year, it was said. One of the main items of interest is the booth of the Atlanta District Poultry Association, which has been active in promoting the show.

POISON PROVES FATAL TO LOUISVILLE WOMAN

Daughter of Good Family Finds Living "Too Much."

Louisville, Ky., October 9.—(AP)—Miss Georgia Hogg, 23, member of a well-known Louisville family, died at the city hospital today from the effects of poison. She was taken to the hospital by police from a room at a hotel, where she had registered under an assumed name.

Miss Hogg had been missing from her home since Monday morning, and had registered at the hotel Monday afternoon. Today employees entered her room with a passkey after unsuccessful efforts had been made to arouse her by knocking.

The girl left two notes, one asking the forgiveness of her parents and the other declaring the "business of living and being bright and happy today has proven too much."

Miss Hogg was divorced in 1928 from Parker Howard, Nashville, Tenn. She had been working as a stenographer.

NEW LAW HITS
FUR TRAPPERS

Sparta, Ga., October 9.—(Special.) County Game Warden J. T. Rhodes, will make an effort to enforce the new "steel-trap law," which is now in effect in Georgia, and is giving the trappers in this section much concern. The law makes it unlawful to use a steel trap to catch birds or animals in this state and the trappers must devise some other way to catch animals for pelts. Considerable money has been made in recent years by the trappers from the sale of hides.

Gold Discovery Brings Hordes To Idaho Hills

Spokane, Wash., October 9.—(United News)—With a steady stream of prospectors, mining men and almost every type represented in a western district pouring into the hills northwest of Wallace, Idaho, a gold rush is being re-enacted with all the color and dash of the early days.

Burros, horses, almost every available means of conveyance is being pressed into service at almost any cost to expedite the frantic rush to the rich country that was discovered when John S. Tout, veteran prospector, found a piece of ore that assayed $2,063 in gold, $21 in silver and $3 in copper.

For almost two weeks the old prospector kept the secret of his find before a "leak" made his discovery public.

As the word spread a stampede of 75 to 100 men at a time broke loose over the hills and has continued in a one-way stream since. Hundreds are going in.

The country is described as the wildest, most remote part of the Coeur d'Alenes. The strike is located about 25 miles northwest of Prichard, Idaho, and about 41 miles from Wallace.

LIFE INSURANCE GAINS CITED BY A. F. C. FISKE

Great Increase Shown in Last 61-2 Years, Metropolitan Officer Says.

Americans have bought more life insurance in the last six and one-half years than was purchased in the preceding seventy-three years, according to A. F. C. Fiske, vice president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Mr. Fiske is here attending a meeting of the southern managers of his company at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel. Facts brought out at the meeting showed that his company now carries the insurance on 28,000,000 lives.

The increased interest in life insurance was attributed by Mr. Fiske partly to the educational work of the war risk insurance board during the World War, and partly to the wide variety of policies now offered by all insurance companies. He stated that the investment possibilities of life insurance now are considered equally with its protective qualities.

Optimism as to business conditions in the south was expressed by Mr. Fiske, whose duties extend to supervision over life insurance and business problems in half of the United States and Canada. The remarkable growth of the southeast industrially is but the beginning of what he believes to be an unprecedented expansion.

Mr. Fiske will be at the Biltmore until Thursday, when he returns to New York.

Banquet Ends Savannah Commemoration of Death Of Pulaski, Polish War Hero

Day Is Spent in Paying Honor to French and Polish Soldiers Who Fell in Revolution.

Savannah, Ga., October 9.—(AP)—Commemoration of the 150th anniversary of the death of Casimir Pulaski, brigadier general in the Continental army, ended here tonight with a banquet at the DeSoto hotel, the city of Savannah being host to Mayor Gordon Saussey, toastmaster.

Clear skies and a generous October sun added to the success of the day's celebration. From 9 o'clock in the morning until midnight tribute was paid to the Polish nobleman who gave his life at the siege of Savannah October 9, 1779. He was but 31 years of age.

Fitting tribute was paid in memory of the French and American troops who participated in the siege and the naval attack of the French embassy, Captain Louis Sablé, was here to express the gratitude of France.

With American, French and Polish flags flying throughout the city, symbols of soldiers of the three nations that joined in the battle to take Savannah from the British, the ceremonies were opened with high military mass at the base of the Confederate monument in the city park.

Mass.

Right Reverend Michael J. Keys, bishop of Savannah, celebrated the mass while standing on a platform made colorful by the flags of three countries.

A brigadier general's salute was fired in honor of General Pulaski by the Irish Jasper Greens, historic military organization of Savannah. Rev. Father Joseph D. Mitchell, of Savannah, delivered a eulogy to General Pulaski.

The crowd then marched to the Pulaski monument, where wreaths were placed at its base and eulogies of the battle hero continued.

The speakers included Mayor Gordon Saussey, of Savannah; Felix Fitzgibbon, Polish ambassador to the United States, who came here for the ceremonies as special envoy for his government, and Count Stanislas Pulaski, a descendant of General Pulaski, who came from Poland to attend the memorial.

Tablet Unveiled.

At Madison Square, in which stands a monument to Sergeant Jacob of Revolutionary War fame, who likewise lost his life in the siege of Savannah, a bronze memorial tablet was unveiled to the memory of the French naval officer, a tablet from South Carolina and others from France who died in the struggle.

Solemnly the procession then marched to Colonial cemetery and at the grave of Captain Vennis Cottineau, French naval officer, a tablet was unveiled in honor of this officer whose life was lost in the American cause.

After a luncheon at which State Senator Shelby Myrick was toastmaster and at which the city of Savannah was host, the delegation put to sea in destroyers and coast guard boats and at the approximate spot of the mouth of the Savannah river, where the body of General Pulaski was lowered into the ocean, wreaths were cast upon the waters and brief memorial ceremony was concluded.

A banquet tonight will conclude the ceremonies here and the delegation will then leave for Washington to continue them.

John R. Stetson, American minister to Poland, and Ambassador Filutowicz arrived here this morning by airplane. They flew from Washington.

The vacancy was created by the recent elevation of Colonel Gerald O'Keefe.

Federal Collector Of Taxes Indicted For Embezzlement

Peoria, Ill., October 9.—(AP)—Clarence W. Johnson, United States commissioner at West Palm Beach, Fla., is under indictment for embezzlement of public funds while he was deputy collector of internal revenue for Livingston county, Illinois, in 1926 and faces trial at the federal court term opening here in mid-October.

The indictment is understood to have been returned in 1926 but the warrant never was served.

The specific charge is failure of Johnson to report funds collected while he was deputy collector of internal revenue at Peoria, working out of Bloomington, Ill.

The secret service division of the internal revenue bureau recently found that Johnson had relatives at Bloomington and planned to visit them. He was seized there during the visit and was released on bond for appearance at the Peoria federal court term October 21.

The amount of the alleged embezzlement was not learned.

KABUL, AFGHAN CAPITAL REPORTED CAPTURED

City Said To Have Fallen Before Attack—Usurper Declared Fugitive.

Calcutta, India, October 9.—(AP)—News of the fall of Kabul, beleaguered capital of Afghanistan, reached India today through three separate sources.

There was, however, no official confirmation of the success of Nadir, who is a representative of the regime that has been fighting for months against the usurper Habibullah.

The usurper was reported to have fled by airplane from Kabul. The beleaguered capital of the city has taken refuge in the neighboring hills.

The troops of Wali, brother of Nadir Khan, are said to have captured or scattered Habibullah's forces and to have entered the capital.

Nadir himself was at Alakhel, 30 miles away, and was expected to enter the city at the head of his forces tomorrow.

There has been much speculation in India on whether the exiled Amanullah would return to the throne from which Habibullah, formerly known as Bacha Sakan, "the water boy of the north," drove him. Nadir was prominent in Afghan affairs before the revolution that overthrew Amanullah.

How To Relieve High Blood Pressure

Famous Dietitian Says Dangerous Condition Can Be Corrected Without Medicines.

According to Prof. von Walden, one of the world's foremost dietitians, High Blood Pressure is directly traceable to our food. "Eat the correct diet for your system," says Prof. von Walden, "and your blood pressure will be normal. By properly balancing the diet and teaching his students what to eat, Prof. Walden has relieved thousands of cases of chronic High Blood Pressure, as well as serious heart trouble, within a few weeks' time. And all without the use of medicines or serums—nothing but scientific knowledge of what to eat.

If you are suffering from High Blood Pressure, Threatened with Paralysis, Hardened Arteries, Heart Trouble, etc., or any troubles due to dietary faults, call on Dr. S. von Walden, 310 Mortgage Guarantee Bldg., Atlanta, for a Free Personal Consultation, or write and explain your trouble. Traces Birth Of Conscience To 2,000 B. C.

Chicago, October 9.—(AP)—Dr. James Breasted, noted Egyptologist and director of the Oriental Institute, has traced the birth of conscience to a period about 2,000 years before Christ.

It was then, Dr. Breasted said in an address last night, that man first indicated a knowledge of the difference between right and wrong. Texts found inscribed on the stone walls of tombs dating back to 2,000 B. C., he said, showed the dawn of conscience and character among the earth's inhabitants.

The warrant against White was made out yesterday by District Attorney Eugene Stanley, acting on complaints of bank auditors.

The young teller, who is married and has a child 18 months old, is reported to have given the district attorney a formal statement admitting the charge against him in part. He denies taking more than $3,000, saying that the remaining $18,000 was taken by someone else.

White's story, as reported, is that one night he left the bank without putting $18,000 in the vault, and that when he came down the next day the money had disappeared from the cage. He then took $3,000, the alleged confession goes, and bet on the races, trying to recoup the loss before the bank learned of the deficit.

"I know it sounds fishy," he was quoted, "but it's the truth."

White let officers know where he could be found, and surrendered. He had been with the bank for four years.

$3,000,000 LOSS IN FOREST FIRES DURING SEASON

Washington, October 9.—(AP)—Damage estimated at more than $3,000,000 has resulted from fire that swept over 842,000 acres of forest lands this season.

The forestry service said this does not take into account damage to young tree growth, watershed protection, and game and recreation values, nor the expenditure of $3,037,200 from the fire suppression fund. The total number of fires started was reported at 5,719 up to and including October 1.

The normal season of fire hazards, it added, had not closed in the far west.

Tots Dislike To See Selves Suck Thumbs

Washington, October 9.—(AP)—Children addicted to sucking their thumbs dislike to watch themselves do it.

That is the conclusion of Dr. Samuel J. Lewis, of Detroit, reported to the American Dental Association after five years spent in developing the first scientific evidence that definitely blames the habit for deformation of a child's deciduous, or early teeth.

He saw in psychology, rather than in anatomy, the best cure for thumb-sucking. Children taken from play twice a day and forced to perform the habit in front of a mirror for ten minutes were successfully cured. Malformation of teeth will correct itself, he said, if the thumb-sucking is stopped before a child is five years of age.

YOUTH GUILTY OF DAD'S MURDER GOES TO PRISON

Greenville, Tenn., October 9.—(AP)—Guy Laughters, 18, was under sentence of from 2 to 10 years in the state penitentiary today following his plea of guilty in criminal court yesterday to a charge of voluntary manslaughter in connection with the death of his father, A. W. Laughters.

The trial was one of the shortest in Greene county. Only three witnesses testified, one for the defense and two for the state. W. T. Coleman, attorney general, spoke for two minutes, and asked the maximum penalty of 10 years. F. P. Berry, one of the two attorneys appointed by the judge to defend the youth, spoke for five minutes.

A. W. Laughters was shot to death at his home near Greenville a few weeks ago. He was a brother of Marion Laughters, chief of police of Greenville. Young Laughters claimed that at the time of the shooting his father was abusing his mother.

Atlanta School Children Will Attend Fair Friday; Games of Chance Barred

Dr. Burns Announces Amicable Adjustment of Differences Between Board and Fair Authorities.

Atlanta's 60,000 school children will enjoy a full holiday Friday to attend the Southeastern Fair children's day program, but no games of chance or gambling devices will be in operation on the midway.

This was the decision Wednesday night by a committee from the Atlanta board of education, headed by Dr. McIntosh M. Burns, president of the board, and Alfred C. Newell, president of the fair association, and Oscar Mills, secretary and general manager. Amicable adjustment of differences caused Dr. Burns to announce that the holiday would be enjoyed and that the children offered wholesome amusements.

While this agreement was being reached, a cordon of sheriff's deputies, investigators for Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, city and county police visited the midway and arrested six men, all of whom were charged with gaming and their equipment confiscated.

Three of these men, C. C. Jewell, Morris Bigby and Arthur Sullivan, were released on bonds of $500 each, signed by Oscar Mills, general manager of the fair. The other three, G. H. Jeffries, Lore Maul and I. Reiser, are being held in the Fulton tower.

The officers said they would further investigate the games today and if evidence of cheating was uncovered the evidence would be placed before the grand jury. Otherwise the defendants will appear in court on the gaming charges.

The board of education at the regular monthly session of that body Tuesday afternoon delivered an ultimatum to association officials stating that unless the association discontinued all illegal operation of games of chance and gaming, the holiday order would be revoked.

Association officials co-operated to the limit in outlawing anything resembling gambling, according to Dr. Burns.

Action of the board was taken following appearance of a committee from the Atlanta Christian Council, which scored "open gambling in violation of a promise of fair officials that no such practices would be permitted."

Mr. Newell countered Tuesday night with a statement that the concessions were in the hands of special commissions representing Mayor L. N. Hagdale as head of the Atlanta city government; Fulton county commissioners, and a third from the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, which he regarded as eminently fitted to judge wholesome amusements. He struck back at critics calling them "busy-bodies and self-appointed censors."

"Our meeting tonight was amicable in every respect," Dr. Burns said. "We found officials ready and willing to co-operate in any manner possible. They already had invited the committee before the board took its action, we were informed, and when we reached the grounds, the police department and the solicitor's office had surveyed the field and some of the booths were closed, presumably under their orders."

"We never intended to permit gaming devices to operate at the fair," Mr. Mills said. "The association had asked the committees to function and the authorities to act to keep the midway clean and wholesome."

HOOVER M'DONALD TELL OF SUCCESS

that, by the same free and candid discussion of needs which has characterized our conversations, such mutual understanding will be reached as will make naval agreement next January possible, and thus remove this serious obstacle to the progress of world disarmament.

"Between now and the meeting of the proposed conference in January, our governments will continue conversations with the other powers concerned, in order to remove as many difficulties as possible before the official and formal negotiations open."

"In view of the security afforded by the peace pact, we have been able to end, we trust forever, all competitive building between ourselves with the risk of war and the waste of public money involved, by agreeing to a parity of fleets, category by category."

"Success of the coming conference will result in a large decrease in the naval equipment of the world and, what is equally important, the reduction of prospective programs of construction which would otherwise produce competitive building to an indefinite amount."

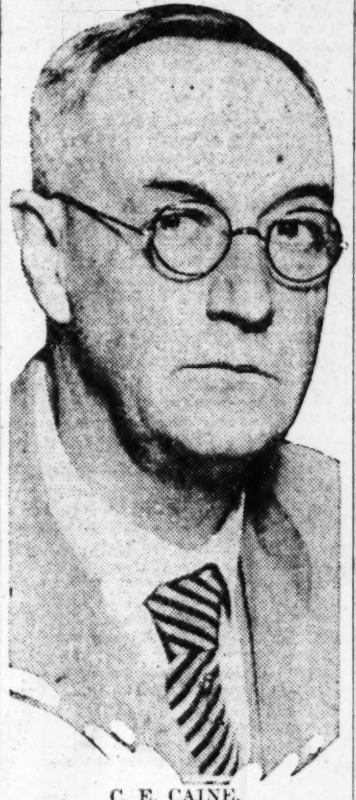

"We hope and believe that the steps we have taken will be warmly welcomed by the people whom we represent as a substantial contribution to the efforts universally made by all nations to gain security for peace—not by military organization—but by peaceful means rooted in public opinion and enforced by a sense of justice in the civilized world."

LABOR FIGHTS MERGER ON SCHOOL SYSTEMS

Executive Committee Will Oppose Plan To Hold Referendum.

Reiterating its opposition to the merger of the Atlanta and Fulton county school systems on the basis proposed in the act passed by the 1929 state legislature, the Atlanta Federation of Trades at its meeting Wednesday night adopted resolutions instructing its executive committee to appear at the public hearing to be held by the county board of education on October 15 and voice the sentiments of the central labor body against the holding of the proposed referendum on the school merger.

The resolution follows: "Whereas, the Atlanta Federation of Trades has gone on record several times emphatically as being opposed to the holding of a referendum by the Fulton county board of education under the bill passed by the 1929 legislature looking towards the consolidation of the Atlanta school system and the Fulton county school system, and whereas, it has been announced through the daily press that the board of education of Fulton county has decided to call a public meeting on October 15 in order that they may determine the sentiment of the citizens of Atlanta in regard to the proposed referendum, therefore be it

"Resolved, that the federation reiterate its opposition to the holding of the referendum, and that the executive committee be instructed to appear at the public hearing before the Fulton county board of education to voice the opposition of organized labor in Atlanta to the holding of any referendum on the merging of the Atlanta and Fulton county school systems, and to oppose the above mentioned bill, and be it further

"Resolved, that copies of these resolutions, together with copies of the resolutions in regard to the proposed merger adopted by the federation herebefore, be sent to the chairman of the Fulton county board of education, to the daily press and to the Journal of Labor."

ATLANTA KIWANIS CLUB TO BE HOST AT DANCE TONIGHT

The Atlanta Kiwanis Club will be hosts to Kiwanians from Rome, Covington, Cedartown, Manchester, Dallas, Monticello, Thomaston and Newnan at a dinner-dance and Kiwanis show tonight at the Atlanta Biltmore.

Indications Wednesday were that more than 300 persons will attend. Fred Jennings, general chairman of the committee in charge of the festivities, has had a stage erected in the Georgian ballroom of the Biltmore on which a unique show is promised with a wide variety of acts.

Promptly at 7 o'clock native and invading Kiwanians will be served dinner. The show will follow and dancing will end the entertainment.

TEN TO BE DEPORTED

They are John Thornton, Monahed Naki, Manuel Alvarez, Rutland Kent Parsons, Antonio Lens, Cyrus Ke-falas, Laura Harriet Feeke, Godfrey Hugh Feeke, Leslie Charles Feeke and Samuel Dodd.

Dodd, recently captured at Birmingham, Ala., is to be deported for having entered the country illegally from the Canadian border.

WAR IS BANISHED, SAY HOOVER, M'DONALD

The White House statement said the president and the prime minister were "highly gratified by the keen interest taken by the peoples of the two countries in their meeting and that the two statesmen regard it as proof of the desire in each nation for a closer Anglo-American understanding."

Mr. MacDonald's program for the day included the conferring of the honorary degree of doctor of laws by Washington university, a luncheon in his honor by the overseas writers and later a visit to Mount Vernon and the placing of a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

He was the honor guest tonight of Secretary Simson at an informal "stag" dinner at "Woodley," Mr. Simson's home. President Hoover was among those present.

The joint statement particularly emphasized the contribution of the general pact to the renunciation of war signed at Paris last year and asserted that both governments resolve to accept it not only as a declaration of good intentions, but as a positive obligation upon which they resolve to guide their national policy.

No More Distrust. "Our conversations have been largely confined," the statement said, "to the mutual relations of the two countries in the light of the situation created by signing of the peace pact, therefore, in a new and reinforced sense the two governments not only declare war between them is unthinkable, but that distrust and suspicion arising from doubt and anxiety which may have been justified before the peace pact, must now cease to influence national policy."

An active consideration of the two countries' problems will now be taken up in a manner similar to that followed during the naval negotiations between the prime minister and Ambassador Davies in London, the statement said. This detailed study will involve the more important technical aspects of the questions to be discussed.

Through the continuation of the candid conversations which have so far taken place on the naval problem, the statement predicted mutual understandings would be reached to make possible a naval agreement at the conference to which the naval powers have been invited next January. Conversations will be continued, it was said, with a view to removing as many of the problems as possible before the formal opening of the conference.

The hope was expressed that the steps which have been taken to secure peace would be welcomed by the peoples whom the two statesmen represent.

The introduction of the statement read: "The visit of the British prime minister to President Hoover, which is now terminated, had as its chief purpose the making of personal contacts which will be fruitful in promoting friendly and frank relations between the two countries. Both the president and the prime minister are highly gratified by the keen interest which the people of both countries have taken in the meeting, and regard it as proof of the strong desire of both nations to come to closer understanding. The British prime minister has been particularly impressed and gratified by the warmth of his welcome and the flood of expressions of good will which have poured upon him."

In addition to the statement made jointly with the president, Mr. MacDonald issued one of his own by way of farewell and subsequently discussed freedom of the seas with Chairman Borah, of the senate foreign relations committee, who has insisted that limitation of navies was practically useless without a guarantee of the rights of neutrals in time of war.

The British leader in his personal statement said he and President Hoover had agreed to use the part of peace for the purpose of coming to agreement on subjects which have defied agreement up to now.

The discussion between MacDonald and Borah took place over tea cups at the British embassy, the two conferring quietly during a tea attended also by Senator Swanson, of Virginia, the ranking democrat on the foreign relations committee as well as on the naval committee, and Mr. Swanson and Associate Justice Brandeis, of the United States supreme court, and Mrs. Brandeis.

Neither the premier nor Senator Borah would discuss their conference at length, but it is known that the senator is chiefly interested in American recognition of the Russian soviet government, as well as freedom of the seas.

Idahoan Pleased. The Idahoan did state afterwards that he was very pleased with the discussions and regarded the visit as a very satisfactory one. The senator and the prime minister are friends and are known to agree fairly generally on a number of foreign relations problems of the day.

The president and Mrs. Hoover went to the front door of the White House with the prime minister and his daughter after they had said goodbye. The prime minister and Miss MacDonald shook hands with all of the members of the president's personal party, including the military and naval aides.

The chief executive late today sent to the embassy a number of autographed photographs of himself and the prime minister, each genially smiling, at the front entrance of the White House. Five copies were retained by the premier for the members of his party and the others were autographed by him and returned to the White House for the president.

The prime minister and his party will leave for Philadelphia and New York tomorrow by special train. High state department officials will bid him farewell at the station.

FRANCE OPPOSES U-BOAT ABOLITION.

Paris, October 9.—(United News.) The French government is making haste to establish a position strictly opposed to abolition of submarines, but officials persisted tonight in their optimism over forthcoming five-power naval arms conference at London.

There also appears to be absolute agreement here among political leaders and naval experts that the idea of parity of naval strength, as adopted between England and the United States, cannot be extended to France and Italy. Italy has indicated that she will insist on such extension of parity thus raising another great obstacle in the negotiations.

While Minister of Marine George Leygues is preparing technical study of the British invitations to the January conference, which the cabinet will consider for probably two weeks before replying to the invitation, comment centers on the Franco-Italian naval race for Mediterranean supremacy. It is generally agreed that this issue will cause intense controversy at the conference.

France will not seek to obtain a pre-conference agreement with Italy and Japan for the present, it was learned, but will devote all efforts to establishing firmly the French position, which includes the theory that land, naval and air armaments be considered as inseparably connected.

Semi-official opinion here expressed surprise at British press comment to the effect that France is inimical to the conference. Le Temps said that it has always been England which has obstructed real limitation of naval arms.

It was learned that the cabinet members individually favor acceptance of the invitation, and little doubt is expressed that a favorable reply will be sent after the technical study has been completed, although it is expected that the reservations already cited will be made to acceptance by France.

NO ENTHUSIASM SHOWN IN ROME.

Rome, October 9.—(United News.) Invitations to the five-power naval conference in London next January have invoked little comment here and virtually no enthusiasm. The newspaper Tribune said that "to recall the Kellogg treaty, which excludes war, and then announce that, as a consequence of it, the British and American fleets will have reached a parity development in 1936 is plain contradiction which only a labor minister (MacDonald) could set forth."

The newspaper further observed that only MacDonald has spoken with emphasis and emotion, and that Washington officials have not replied to him.

JAPAN QUICKLY NAMES DELEGATES.

Tokyo, October 9.—(United News.) Reijiro Wakatsuki will head the Japanese delegation to the five-power naval arms conference in London, the newspaper Hochi Shimbun said today. The newspaper said that the other members of the delegation would be Hyo Takahara and Tsuneo Matsudaira, Japanese ambassador to Great Britain.

CITY HALL OFFERS IN COUNCIL TODAY

plant the one calling for $3,225,000 for a lease covering the same period of time. Other bids also were expected, one of which will be filed by Alderman G. Everett Millican, of the tenth ward.

Many other matters also will be considered by council this afternoon, the mayor making a blanket call for the council and the aldermanic board. Award of contracts for furnishing the new $1,000,000 city hall also will be recommended by the city hall committee. A session was held Wednesday afternoon and the following recommendations covering about $150,000 were made and will be presented at the meeting:

Contract Recommendations.

Steel furniture comprising Group No. 1, of specifications to the Foote & Davies Company, Atlanta; wood furnishings, Group 2, to Newton-Holt company, Chicago; rugs and draperies, group 3, to W. E. Browne Decorating Company, Atlanta; mural decorations in committee rooms, council chamber, mayor's suite, etc., to Vollmer & Cetti, Atlanta; special electrical fixtures to the Capital Electric Company, Atlanta.

This action was taken on the electrical wiring controversy in the new city hall, members of the committee voting to hold a conference this morning with John A. McDonald, president of the National Construction Company, contractors on the job, who have awarded the electrical work to a subcontractor.

Mr. McCutcheon made it plain that the National Construction Company is in no way responsible for failure of the wire to come up to specifications and that the conference today is to reach an agreement as to what recommendation should be made to council to make the installations reach the contract agreement.

Appraisals of the city hall site filed with Councilman McCutcheon place a value of $800,000 on the property, while tax assessors fix $346,000 as its market price.

Poultry Raising In State Shows Steady Increase

The rapid advance of commercial poultry raising from comparative obscurity to a leading position among Georgia agricultural industries is emphasized in figures just compiled by the state bureau of markets, which supervises co-operative selling of poultry products.

Four years ago, according to records of the bureau, the industry was so little developed in this state that only 79 carloads of poultry were shipped over a 12-month period, and no concerted effort was being made to improve the quality of the product. Last year, however, shipments had increased to 171 with a total valuation of $424,556.15, while figures for the first six months of 1929 show 204 carloads shipped for a total income of $793,407.22.

Marketing bureau officials have estimated that the aggregate of shipments for the current year will exceed 350 cars, with receipts of more than a million dollars. At the same time poultry raisers are being instructed to eliminate culls and scaly-legged fowls from their flocks, with the result that a record for carlot prices on all classes of poultry was established in April of this year. Improvement in quality and prices of eggs has accompanied the general advance of the industry, according to the market bureau records.

BLACK CHALLENGES G. O. P. CHIEF CLAIM

Alabama Senator Asserts
Aid Never Asked for Muscle Shoals Legislation.

Washington, October 9.—(AP)—A statement attributed to Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the republican national committee, that senate republican leaders had sought co-operation of Alabama's senators in passage of Muscle Shoals legislation was challenged in the senate today by Senator Black, democrat, Alabama.

The statement, which Black said was quoted by Cyrus W. Ashcraft, Alabama business man, as Huston saying that the "leaders were earnestly seeking the active efforts of the senators from this state (Alabama) in behalf of legislation." It also quoted Huston as saying the republican majority would be active in supporting a plan for legislation.

"I call upon them," Black said, "to say whether they have sought our co-operation." He received no answer from the republican side of the chamber.

Black then asserted that the republican leaders had not sought co-operation, and he was joined by his colleague, Senator Heflin, also a democrat, who said there seemed to be an impression in Alabama that if he and Black "went to work, something would be done."

"That isn't true," Heflin said. "The senate is divided on the question."

Black contended that every effort to obtain legislation had been blocked by the "great power and fertilizer companies which are using obsolete machinery."

Even the unusual attendance of Tuesday, when "Greater Atlanta Day" drew thousands of visitors, including county, state and city dignitaries, was eclipsed Wednesday when droves of farmers and their families assembled to view the exhibits of farm products, displayed in the agricultural buildings, and the cows, hogs and hens representing the best of southern and national live stock breeders.

But not all their attention was devoted to the exhibits dealing with their workaday life, as they swarmed over the midway, took in the rides and had a general good time, especially the youngsters, to whom a visit to a fair is a rare treat indeed.

Judging of cattle, started Tuesday, continued Wednesday and will be concluded today, when Guernseys will be graded by the live stock experts. In the judging today, considerable interest centers about the herd of high-grade Guernseys which J. C. Penney, famous chainstore owner and cattle breeder, has entered.

These pictures, snapped Wednesday at Lakewood park, show the Southeastern Fair in full swing. Upper left, one of numerous sights on the midway, a little girl eating a cotton candy ball; upper center, Misses Margaret and Mamie Harper, of Jonesboro road, with the ever-present hot dogs and pink lemonade; upper right, three Atlanta kiddies enjoying a Ferris wheel ride, and lower, from left to right, a view of the crowd, and the judging and awarding of the blue ribbon prize in the class summer yearling bulls. The entry owned by H. A. Thompson, of Indiana, was adjudged the winner.

Hog Show.

The hog show at the fair is one of the best in the history of the institution and the entries represent the best of some of the leading breeders' farms in the country. Durocs, Poland Chinas, Hampshires and Berkshires are the leading breeds and the specimens on exhibit are the best of their respective types.

Much interest at the fair has been attracted by the poultry and rabbit show, made possible through the co-operation of the Atlanta District Poultry Association, the Atlanta Cavy Breeders and Rabbit Club and the Georgia State Rabbit and Cavy Breeders' Club.

More than 2,000 pigeons and chickens are entered in the poultry exhibit, which also contain a variety of pheasants and peacocks, loaned by the Atlanta park department and appearing in a fair exhibit for the first time. Dr. Charles Wright, veterinarian, will lecture this morning and Saturday morning on the care of poultry, and a capon demonstration is given at 10 o'clock each morning by Mrs. B. C. Davis.

Today will witness the opening of two events always popular with fair patrons. These are the automobile racing program and the dog show. The canine exhibition has gathered together a large group of fine specimens, representing the best of bench show talent. Several noted dirt-track noon and for the remainder of the week.

Amusement features were very much in evidence Wednesday, as crowds thronged the midway throughout the day and most of the night. The Royal American Shows, the grandstand performances, the King Brothers' Wild West Show and two concert bands helped to while away the time for the fair visitors, while at night another brilliant pyrotechnic display was given across the lake from the grandstand.

Exhibits of Georgia's farm products, live stock and manufactured, have been pronounced the greatest in the history of the fair.

A special program consisting of songs, talks and demonstrations will be given at 11 o'clock this morning in the basement of the agriculture building in the big negro exhibit. The program will be under the direction of P. H. Stone, superintendent of the exhibit, and Camilla Weems, assistant, and will be given by the 4-H Club girls.

Attorneys for the defense said they would introduce witnesses to prove that Mathena had told his wife she would be required to operate a still and that the wife's refusal led to the quarrel which resulted in his death.

Georgia Grooms Flashy Attack for Game With Yale

BULLDOGS WORK HARD ON TIMING, AERIAL ATTACK

Work Still Goes on for Stopping of Dreaded Booth.

By Ralph McGill.

While there is a heap of peering this way and that at and a lot of wagging of wise nog-gins over the Yale spin plays and lateral passes at old Sanford field the offense has not been forgotten.

Not at all. Quite the contrary. Coach Harry Mehre declares that he will concentrate his attention on a defense to halt Albie Booth, the 135-pound pain in the neck who is Yale's fair-haired boy. And there has been a lot of palaver about the damage done by the Yale plays as used in practice.

BUZZING ALONG.

And yet the Georgia offense is buzzing along. Harry Mehre's best bet is to light into the Yale team with an attack. Mehre has not said he would but the backs are doing a lot of hopping about—just hopping on and out—timing that funny little turkey hoppy-hop that is a prelude to the Notre Dame attack. They are perfecting the timing.

And while a lot of eyes were focused on the synthetic Yale team spinning and chattering very few were turned over to where the Georgia varsity backfield was warming up with some smart signal drills and some attention to passes. Oh, a very lot of attention to passes.

Frank Thomas, the director of the leg men, has them going through a lot of side-stepping drills with the leader under their arms. And the Georgia backs are hustling. They didn't leave a thing on the field in the Furman game. Not a thing. They have more drive and cohesion than they've had at any time this year.

INTENSIVE WORK.

There will be some intensive work done on preparing a defense against the Yale plays. That is the usual course before any difficult game. And naturally the boys wouldn't fail to prepare a Yale defense.

The backfield has been augmented by Marion Dickson, a young man with a shifty pair of legs. He was not in the first two games of the season, injuries keeping him out. He will not start but will be ready for substitution. With Herb Maffett back for end duty the Georgia eleven will offer a stronger starting lineup and reserve list than at any previous time this season.

Georgia will step out with an attack Saturday. Yale will have something to stop. The Vermont game, Yale's opening gun, was something of a burlesque. They waived the substitute rule and the Vermonters were substituted as fast as they could be removed.

FINE BLOCKERS.

Yale has a fine blocking team this fall. And the going was quite rough for Vermont. H. J. Stegeman, one of the Georgia coaches, told of one young Vermont lineman who got enough. He went down on one knee and his mates picked him up. One leg was dangling. The coach was off. They stopped at the bench. The player was helpless. His mates helped him onto the tunnel leading to the visiting dressing room. The crowd was big. As they neared the mouth of the tunnel the player recovered, shook off his mates and his blanket and sold out up the tunnel on two good legs. The crowd across the field, which had been watching sympathetically, roared with laughter. One young man had escaped being grieved for the mill.

Yale will meet no such young men on Saturday. They will meet a determined offense and an attack that will be stinging. Albie Booth was able to stop and wait for his blockers to come up in the Vermont game. He won't be Saturday.

FAVORITE.

Yale will be an oddson favorite to win. Yale has a heavy, experienced team. Georgia has a young team that is just coming along. But Yale will not be able to loaf. Albie Booth's travels will be much tougher and rougher this week than they were last. The Georgia defense will be fighting. And it will know what it is fighting for. There is no need to worry about Georgia neglecting the attack for the defense. They aren't.

Redbirds Even Series, 4 to 2

Rochester, N. Y., October 9.—(United News.)—Rochester's Red Wings evened the count in the little world series at three games each by defeating the Kansas City Blues, 4 to 2, today. Four victories are needed for the championship. "Red" Murray, the Blues' starting pitcher, allowed only three hits, but was the victim of poor support and retired in the eighth with his team trailing, 4 to 0. Paul Derringer gave the American Association champions seven hits, but was never in trouble except in the ninth, when the westerners rallied to shove two runs across. Derringer pitched himself out of the hole in the game ending with the tying and winning runs on base. Knots' boot, coupled with two walks issued by Murray, gave Rochester two runs in the first. Murray walked Worthington to open the sixth, and Felix's single went for a triple when Gerkin fell. Felix later scoring on a sacrifice. Kansas City.....000 000 000—4 7 1
Rochester.....200 002 004—4 8
Batteries: Murray, Worthington and Derringer; Derringer and Florence.

Tough Day.

Washington, October 9.—(United News.)—Unmildful of the beating Western Maryland administered last Saturday, Coach Little put his Georgetown team through a stiff workout today, admonishing them not to look into the past, but to prepare for future games.

By way of preparing for the Tech-North Carolina muss on Grant field Friday, get your eyes sharpened up for a kid named Johnny Branch, who will wear the blue of the Old North State.

Johnny is a mite shorter and narrower than Stumpy Thomas and plays quarterback for the Tarheels. He is a sophomore and does not know any better than to play football as hard as he can for every minute he is in the game. How that kid expends himself on every play!!

Branch performs at safety on defense. If the Yellow Jacket punters kick one to him, fans will see some of the fanciest stepping since—well, the last time Stumpy ran with the ball. Those two mighty mites—Stumpy and Johnny—will be a sideshow worth the price of admission.

YALE, TOO, HAS A PROBLEM.

Unless the Georgia debutantes suffer an attack of buck-aque (a country name for stage fright) at the outset of the Yale game, they will give the royal Blue a great fight and might actually win the decision.

Yale has not been hit hard this season. Yale opened last week against Vermont which was less valuable to team development than a scrimmage against the "C" team or maybe the "H" team. Yale, say what you will, will NOT be ready to stop a well organized, varied attack.

Georgia has had two games in one of which they had priceless experience looking at spin plays and quaffed the sobering draught of defeat. In the other they had the tonic of staging a comeback and hitting a winning pace.

One hears much of a young halfback named Albie Booth, who spins and runs with the ball for Yale. I venture, Georgia has six halfbacks as good as Albie. It is THE TEAM that makes Albie go.

If the Bulldogs get together on offense and get mean on defense, they can set Yale down very hard, maybe for the long count. And who ever heard of a Georgian getting nervous on his own red clay soil—it has not happened in 100 years.

IRISH REBELLION BREWING.

Calling attention to an item that might have been overlooked or discounted in reading the bare score:

Notre Dame quietly and effectively beat Indiana, 14 to 0, last Saturday, using the regulars—Jack Elder, Frank Carridee and the others—just long enough to make the two touchdowns.

Knut Rockne gave several sets of shock troops a workout. The tip is that Notre Dame is plenty stronger than last year.

And they have until November 2 to get better before they meet Georgia Tech.

GLORY ENOUGH.

If and when Connie Mack wins this world series, he will become the only manager to have won four titles. McGraw and Huggins have won three apiece.

And if he does not win, his trick of holding Ehmkie out and letting him scout the Cubs all summer is glory enough. The old brain can lick mere muscle four out of five times.

After working his "dead man" play on the Cubs there remains just one more thing for Connie to do: have his first baseman pull a hidden ball play.

As an added attraction to the engaging picture, "Fast Company," at the Paramount theater this week—do not miss the headline, by the way—is a news reel that bares the mistake of a referee.

In the Army-Boston game, Army completed a forward pass over the goal line and the receiver caught it with a foot beyond the end zone. The pass was called complete. The captain of the Boston team stamped and protested politely, but the ruling stood.

Officials in the Tech-Aggie game had exactly the same play to rule on and ruled correctly. Southern officials miss them occasionally, but they are as efficient as any in the nation, due mainly to the progressive functioning of the officials' association.

"EIGHTEEN ON ONE."

Tubby Walton, caterer and catcher, called this desk for a line of free publicity.

"Tell all the fat boys that I am serving the eighteen-day diet now—all in one day on a fifty-cent plate lunch," says Tubby.

Of course this cannot be printed due to strict rules against such stuff.

Balls and Strikes

By Brian Bell.

Associated Press Sports Writer.

Chicago, October 9.—(AP)—Howard Ehmkie, who lulled the Cubs to sleep with his slow ball yesterday, was cheered just as lustily today. He cavorted about left field during the A's practice and said he never felt "younger" in his life. "I think I could tame the Cubs again," he said when asked if he would like to get another crack at McCarthy's boys.

Two Rajahs, one of them of swat and another of a royal household, were present. "Rajah" Hornsby, of the Cubs, was one; the genuine one was the Rajah of Kapurthala, India, who said he had often heard of the Cubs' second sacker.

Connie Mack was not nearly as nervous before today's game. He chatted freely and posed for many pictures with Manager McCarthy, Ty Cobb, Pie Traynor, of the Pirates; John McGraw, of the Giants; Babe Ruth, Rogers Hornsby and other great and near-great of the big show.

Elwood English, the goat of the first game because of his two bad errors in the ninth inning, got a big ovation when he came up to bat in the first inning. He got a bigger one when he got the first hit of the game—a slinging line that hit the left field wall. He got the first hit yesterday, too.

Gabby Hartnett, ailing Cub catcher, is the strikeout pinch hitter of the series so far. With two on and two out, he batted for Blake and whiffed. He did the same thing yesterday.

Bill Dinnensen, calling 'em behind the plate, was razed all day by the fans. When a strike came, the fans yelled "ball" and vice versa.

MACKS WIN SECOND, 9-3

Two Georgia Ends Who Will See Action in Yale Game

Here are two of Harry Mehre's ends who will get into action against Yale. Left is Weddington Smith, substitute, whose sensational tackling was one of the features of the Furman game last week. Right is Vernon Smith, right end, who will also do the punting. They are playing their first year on the varsity squad.

YALE TO HEAD SOUTH TODAY

Northern Bulldog Leaves New Haven This Afternoon at 2:30.

New Haven, Conn., October 9.—(Special.)—With the final practice of the football team this afternoon and a rousing rally tonight in Woolsey hall, in which over a thousand students took part, Yale may be said to be ready for the Georgia game. The move to Athens will start tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 when the special through train will leave the New Haven station.

There are 60 in the official Yale party, including 38 players, officials of the athletic association, coaches, managers, physicians and managerial competitors. The headquarters of the Yale party at Athens will be the Hotel Georgian and the return trip will start from Athens at 9 o'clock on Saturday night, arriving in New Haven 24 hours later.

Coach Stevens, following the practice today said that having something unforeseen, the Yale team would line up as follows Saturday:

LINEUP.

This is the team with the exception of the ends, which faced Vermont Saturday in the opening game of the year. Walker and Hickok, didn't get into the Vermont game at all.

Captain Greene was not at the field yesterday as he is nursing a slight cold, but he will be in the Georgia game. Jim Stewart pulled a ligament in his right shoulder during the practice session against the scrubs on Tuesday and the big guard will be out of the game for at least two weeks. Stewart, however, will be taken on the Georgia trip.

FINAL DRILL.

Today's work on Anthony Thompson field consisted in a final drill in the fundamentals, all of the coaches taking a hand. The linemen were handled by Adam Walsh and the backs by Head Coach Stevens. As a final polishing off Coach Stevens sent the varsity through a five-minute scrimmage. There was no scoring and several of the regulars looked on from the sidelines.

Tonight's rally was an enthusiastic one and during the evening slides of the team were shown on a screen. Speeches were made by the following: Head Coach Stevens, Adam Walsh, Line Coach Charles E. Comerford, Duckey Pond and Captain Green. A letter was read from President Angell, which was greeted with hearty applause. All in all it was one of the most enthusiastic football rallies held at Yale in several years. The university band, which will make the trip to Georgia, 50 strong, furnished the music.

Root and Mexican Back To See Georgia.

Mexico City, October 8.—(AP)—Although temporarily separated from the Yale coaching staff through his mission of coaching the University of Mexico eleven, Reginald Root will sit on the Yale bench at the Yale-Georgia game at Athens, Ga., Saturday.

With him will be Roberto Noriega, quarterback of the Mexican team, who hopes thereby to add to his football education.

Mr. Malone's Fast One Anticipated by Foxx

Pegler Says Cubs Began Talking Too Soon About What They Would Do.

By Westbrook Pegler.

Chicago, October 9.—It does not pay to go around telling people what you are going to do to people. If you are going to give somebody a bust on the nose, the best way to do it is to walk right up and start busting. Impromptu, making sure not to miss. But if you go around making statements that you intend to bust somebody, the news of this is likely to get noised about and the other party is sure to take steps not to be busted. You may even become the buster.

For some time before the world series began prominent hitters of the Chicago ball club signified rather brutal intentions toward the parties who do the pitching for the Philadelphia Athletics, and Perro Malone, a big chunk of a man, the scion of a section foreman on the Pennsylvania railroad, indicated that as fast as Connie Mack's batting order stepped up to have business relations with him he would knock the bats right out of their hands with his swift. His swift has always been regarded as something noteworthy. He stands up there on the rise of ground, kinks himself somewhat, unkinks, and lets fly like 250 pounds of determined woman throwing a sugar-bowl in an old-fashioned family disagreement. By the way, what has become of the old-fashioned 250-pound wife?

So this afternoon, in the second game of the world series, played on a football sort of afternoon, before customers wrapped in woolly coats, under a gray and gloomy overhead, Jimmy Foxx, the Maryland plowboy, anticipated Mr. Malone's swift and busted himself a home run into the leftfield bleachers, scoring two runners ahead, for all the runs the A's needed to stand off the Cubs. This happened in the third inning, and coupled with certain incidents of the next ensuing inning, it licked the Cubs for the second time, the final score being 9 to 3. Mr. Malone vanished from the scene before the series began of his sinister intentions toward Al Simmons.

AL DELIVERS.

Mr. Simmons is a Polish boy from Milwaukee, who stands about halfway between the third base line and the home plate. He is a big fellow, due no doubt to having been hit on the head when young. He was born Simonski but the copy readers on the sport desks of the papers up there changed his name for his years ago because it was easier to spell Simmons. There have been a lot of Milwaukee people at the Cubs' ball grounds for the world series, exhorting Mr. Simmons to do something outstanding. Both days before game time he was always being called for in hitting practice to walk over to the field boxes and autograph a ball or a piece of paper for somebody from Milwaukee, and he was under great pressure to oblige. He did his work in this close proximity of his old home town.

In the fourth inning, it was, he hit his single to center, a drive with a faint slice on it that the umpire out there had to bend under to avoid fouling the play. It dropped to the ground about 20 yards behind the bag, curving to the right, and Heck Wilson, on his stumpy, pool-table legs, had to agitate himself to gather it up. In the meantime, George Vanderbilt, Earnshaw, the refined suburban society man from Swarthmore, Pa., and Mule (Vulgar) Haas, the Athletics' outfielder, a man who utters a loud, disparaging sound from the bench in critical moments of his games, had scored from third and second respectively. This made five runs for the Athletics, two more than the Cubs were able to accumulate all afternoon, and in view of what Pat Malone had intended doing to Al, it goes to show that a party should never go around telling people what he intends to do to a certain other party.

COMMON BASEBALL.

The world series related in the second game and the baseball was just common baseball of the kind the customer has come to expect. It was a last week, is expected to bolster greatly the old liners' offensive play.

AL SIMMONS AND JIM FOXX HIT HOME RUNS

Grove Relieves Earnshaw and Checks Big Bats of Cubs.

By Alan Gould, Associated Press Sports Writer.

Wrigley Field, Chicago, October 9.—(AP)—The Athletics changed their tune today, but it was still a dirge so far as the Cubs and their hopes of world's series conquests are concerned.

Connie Mack's American league champions said it with base hits instead of slow curves as they hammered the Chicago team into submission, 9 to 3, captured their second game in a row and started back toward Philadelphia with the 1929 championship of the baseball world apparently in their grasp.

The home stand of the Cubs ended in an almost complete rout as the rampant Athletics, led by the war clubs of Al Simmons and Jimmy Foxx, drove big Pat Malone out of the box in less than four innings and completed the homecoming at the expense of Hal Carlson.

FOXX, SIMMONS SHINE.

Foxx, with his second home run of the series, and Simmons, with his first, contributed the mightiest blows. Together they scored in seven of the A's nine runs as the rescue with a row of the Cubs, except for Hack Wilson, and a one-inning outburst, but not another dismal exhibition at the plate.

The Cubs drove George Earnshaw, the A's starting pitcher, from the box in the fifth inning with the rally that belatedly rescued them from defeat. Lefty Grove came to the rescue with an assortment of fast balls that stopped the Bruins in their tracks and left them dizzy from swinging at the air for the second day in succession.

Thirteen Cubs, for the second straight day, struck out, to make the downfall of the supposedly slugging National league champions all the more humiliating to themselves as well as to 49,987 fans who paid $217,311 to sit shivering in the cold, biting winds that blew through the park.

ANNOYING PERFORMANCE.

This whiffing performance on the part of the Cubs, equalling the opening day world's series record so far as victims are concerned, was even more annoying to the bundled and blanketed crowd because it had been led to believe the Cubs shared one last bats. They got them today but could not do much more with them than they did with Howard Ehmkie's slow curves yesterday.

In fact, the crowd became so thor-

Auburn Seeks 'Gator Victory

Auburn, Ala., October 9.—The second best scrimmage of the season at the Plains was held Wednesday afternoon as the Tigers were sent through one hour of rough work against three different teams.

"Beat Florida" is on the minds of every Plainsman and they are realizing their daily work seriously, taking that they will give the duke bucket a complete spill Friday night if they win over Coach Charlie Bachman's University of Florida eleven in the first southern conference football game at night.

The dopesters are giving the Gators the edge by a considerable margin but the Tigers are conceding nothing, realizing they can play the brand of football displayed against Clemson in the second half all of the time if they will just wake up and start at the very beginning. They have been a team of sleeping giants but hope to wake up Friday night against Florida.

Howard Chappelle, Jim Crawford, Captain Long, Newton, Hatfield, Young, Harkins, all showed up well in one of the best scrimmages of the season on Drake field.

The student body will attend the game in the Cradle of the Confederacy 100 per cent, as the athletic authorities have chartered two special trains to transport the students to the game free of charge.

Second Series Game Turns Into Day for Batters as A's Rampage

FOXX, SIMMONS GIVE MCARTHY HARD PROBLEM

Moriarty Says Grove Had Speed of Gangster's Bullet.

By George Moriarty.
(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)
Wrigley Park, Chicago, October 9.—In spite of the fact that the weather was typically suitable for speed ball kings, Earnshaw and Malone failed to survive the halfway mark.

Rather it was a day for the hitters. When the time came to change pitchers, Connie Mack threw his demon left-hander, Moses Grove, in the breach, and Grove easily stopped the Cubs' last aggressive gesture.

From the press stand Grove appeared to me to have the speed of a gangster's bullet. When he replaced Earnshaw in the fifth inning with two out and two on bases, and whiffed Pinch-Hitter Hartnett, instant seemed to tell the Athletics that they had the second contest safely stored away.

Joe McCarthy obviously faced the same knotty problem that seven American league managers failed to solve all summer—namely, the task of stopping the powerful Simmons and Foxx at the plate. Those two great batsmen were strong factors in the second Philadelphia victory, and were given material aid by a few of their mates.

PITCHING PARADE.
The parade of Malone, Blake, Carlson and Noid to the rubber in an effort to stem the tide revealed McCarthy's desperation.

While Earnshaw was derailed in the fifth, his early labor on the mound played a vital part in the final score. The Cubs are strictly a right field hitting machine, but Earnshaw's tremendous speed forced them to waste their hardest hits on the distant right-field foul line.

The deciding break of the game for the Athletics came in the third inning. After Cochrane had singled to right in this frame, Malone made the mistake of pitching to Simmons' bat hands and walked him. Malone tried the same methods on Foxx, who viciously patted a high fast one into the left-field bleachers, and left the Cubs temporarily on the ropes, three runs behind.

Briefly, Malone pitched gamely, but seemed eager to get his fast ball over the plate instead of pitching where it would result in less damage.

In the third inning Manager McCarthy was forced to take his second big gamble of the series. With Wilson, Cuyler and McMillan on base, the dangerous Stephenson was at bat. Here Earnshaw developed an unexpected wild streak, shooting his first three pitches high and inside to the Cub batter.

It looked like real trouble for Earnshaw, but he got the next pitch over for a three-and-one count.

TURNING POINT.
Encouraged by Earnshaw's bad control, McCarthy decided to make Stephenson wait him out and not go after the crumpled ball. The right-hander shoved across the plate to keep from passing him. Then Stephenson poked a lazy fly to Simmons on a smoking fast ball right through the heart of the plate. A hit would have changed the entire complexion of the game. This failure did little for the Cub's morale.

The Cubs now have their backs to the wall. They made their supreme effort in the fifth inning when everybody in the park came to the conclusion that they were all washed up. Here they pounded the ball as advertised and knocked Earnshaw out of the box.

Carlson, whom McCarthy was saving to start against the Athletics in one of the next two games, headed into the contest in the sixth inning, and this move again left McCarthy with this intense desire to "pull today's game out of the fire and make the series even."

At Simmons' rudely shattered this plan when he rifled a homer into the right field section of the bleachers. That was the last straw, so far as the Cubs were concerned, as the Athletics were riding too high to be caught by anything less than a terrific batting rally.

Grove pitched a masterful game during the four and one-third innings he carried the burden. The Cubs did not prove the general contention that they can make any left-hander weep. Grove undoubtedly provided them with a new sensation in swinging at his fire-ball delivery.

Athletics Expecting To Win 4 Straight A's Chesty, Confident While Cubs' Spirit Seems Broken—Teams Off To Philly.

By Charles Dunkley,
Associated Press Sports Writer.
Chicago, October 9.—(AP)—The Athletics, twice victorious over the Cubs in the first two games of the world's series, are confident that by Saturday they will be baseball champions of the world.

The A's were a chesty lot of ball players as they swarmed off the field today, after facing the Cubs, 9 to 3. They figure that it is all over but the shouting—which will be done in Philadelphia.

That was their spirit as they rushed into their dressing room, to slam uniforms into their grips and depart on the special train, leaving an hour and a half later. They looked forward to the resumption of the series in Philadelphia Friday as just another occasion for them to go out and win.

"We will be a rough, tough team to beat from now on," boasted Al Simmons, whose chest was just a little more expanded because of his achievement of driving the ball out of the park for a home run in the eighth inning, scoring Cochrane ahead of him.

George Earnshaw, who started the game for the Athletics, giving away to Grove in the fifth, said the pitching might not have been the best, but "we were hitting now and with the A's."

"We are nothing now, and that's all that's necessary," Earnshaw said. Jimmy Dykes, the Athletics' third baseman, expressed confidence in the team's ability to make it four straight.

CONNIE SILENT.
Manager Connie Mack left immediately for his hotel, and thence to the special train, without making any comment on today's victory or giving an inkling of what pitcher he might start in Philadelphia Friday.

An air of quiet and extreme depression came from the vanquished Cubs as they silently packed their baseball belongings for their hurried departure to the special train.

The confidence that a hopeful club ordinarily exudes appeared to be gone. Their spirit, while not broken, was thoroughly shaken. None of the players could, or would, talk, and nobody talked to them either.

SOBER, SILENT.
The players filed into their dressing room, sober and silent, and quietly went about the task of packing. Not a word was spoken for at least five minutes. Then the pudgy Hack Wilson, dressing in a corner of the room, suddenly snarled:

"Well, what about that Grove? He ain't got any more stuff than Root." Wilson seemed to know exactly what was talking about, for he managed to nick the "fire ball" left-hander for two singles.

Manager Joe McCarthy was in no mood to talk, showing an inclination to remain as quiet as his players.

A'S LOOK BETTER.
"They looked like the better ball club today," McCarthy finally blurted out. "They didn't yesterday, but they did today."

"I don't know who will start," in dismissing the question of his pitching selection for Friday. "I'll take the same guess Mack does in making his selections. There isn't much more I can say in the way it's going now."

"If they can win two games so can we. This thing is not over until the fourth game is won. It has been done before, this business of one club coming back after losing two, or even three, games."

A'S 'HOPEFUL' OF WINNING, SAYS SIMMONS

Macks Have Pounded Six of Best Pitchers on Cub Staff.

By Al Simmons,
Athletic Outfielder.
(Copyright, 1929, by The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance.)
Wrigley Field, Chicago, October 9.—My club, the Athletics, will return to Philadelphia very hopeful, if not confident, that we will end the present world series there not later than next Monday and will be the champions of the baseball world.

We have had a shot at six of the best pitchers on the Chicago staff. We have hit them all hard in spots. Pat Malone, who started today's game, was the man we thought might give us the most trouble. But we socked him plenty.

Malone had us winging, as they say, for two hours today when he struck out four batters, myself included, using blinding speed which he controlled well. I was saying to myself, "that fellow is going to be tough on us folks."

But when Mike Cochrane started on Malone with a single in the third inning, I drew a pass and Jimmy Foxx hit that long homer into the left field bleachers, getting the A's three runs. I knew we had the Cubs' ace down for the count.

MALONE HAS SPEED.
It was a day made to order for Malone. The sun did not shine and I'm here to tell you that he has the speed. It might be hard to see his fast ones coming up.

Pat might have gone along giving us trouble to the end had it not been for Cochrane's single and Foxx's homer. The terrific clout by Jimmy, who is one of the most powerful sluggers the game has ever seen—and I bar none in making that statement—took all the heart out of Malone.

I think the feature of today's game was the two big innings which my team had. That's the way we won the pennant. The A's invariably have had one or two innings in any game they won during the season.

Today it was the third and fourth rounds that gave Malone a headache. It is true that in the fourth we were helped by an error. But fumbles are a part of the game. They pop up in spots many times.

HAD THE PUNCH.
The fact remains that in the clinches, when we had the men on the bases, the hits were forthcoming to score them.

I am satisfied that the Athletics have proved to the world that they won the American league pennant by playing a superior brand of baseball, which is all that can be asked of any ball club. I heard some talk about Blake and Carlson stopping us. I grant you we did not do much damage to Blake, but we gave him the hurt.

After the game, I'll give Jimmy the hero's wreath.

DESERVED CREDIT.
At the same time I feel that George Earnshaw and Lefty Grove, the pitchers today, deserve considerable credit, along with Howard Ehmke, who was the winning moundman yesterday. When they got a lead, they were able to hold it.

I will admit that the dark day was suited to the fire balling of Earnshaw and Grove, as it was to that of Malone. The big thing in the favor of the A's was that in the tight spots our pitchers were better than Malone or any of the other National leaguers.

Probably the turning point of the game was the third inning. Look at it from any angle. We had scored three runs in that round as a result of Foxx's homer with two on. Then Earnshaw became wild.

THREE AND TWO.
The count became three and two. I'll assure you that I was just a bit anxious over that in left field. But I knew George had the courage. And he put something on that last pitch to Stephenson, who lifted the ball into short left field so that I might catch it and end the round. I sure did long that it might.

I am happy tonight because I feel that I have done enough so far that I will not be considered the bust of the series no matter what may happen in the future. That home run I hit off Carlson in the eighth inning felt good. But it was not in it with the engine, it was in it with the series hit and I had escaped the disgrace of "wearing the collar" in my first world series.

The Athletics have the Cubs two down. I feel sure we can win the title. For we have some pitchers in reserve who will give the Cubs quite as much trouble as any they have seen. And they must have had trouble with Earnshaw, Grove and Ehmke since 26 of them fanned in 18 innings, or 13 in each of the two games played.

I feel that we have all the better of the battling now that we are returning to our home lot.

Hot Dogs Land Cub Official in Jail
Chicago, October 9.—(AP)—Bob Lewis, traveling secretary of the Chicago Cubs, spent an hour in jail early this morning, all on account of hot dogs.

Lewis and Ray Kneip, hot dog concessionaire at Wrigley field, were arrested by a policeman, who asserted they were threatening independent hot dog "barbers" vending the invigorating frankfurters to the thousands of persons lined up outside the ball park waiting for bleacher seats.

Lewis and Kneip were booked for disorderly conduct and released on their own $25 bonds.

Ernest Cashman, said to be a club employee, was arrested for striking one of the independent vendors. He also was charged with disorderly conduct and released on $25 bail.

CUBS IN TOUGH SPOT, ADMITS KIKI CUYLER

Chicago Outfielder Believes Team Will Halt Rush of Macks.

By Hazen "Kiki" Cuyler,
Chicago Cub Outfielder.
(Copyright, 1929, by The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance.)
Wrigley Field, Chicago, October 9.—We couldn't beat 'em in our own park, so it looks as if we'll have to do it in theirs.

There is no use thinking we aren't in a tough spot. We are and we know it. I have seen the Cubs swing into a rampant stride on several occasions during the season and I feel sure it can be done again. At least the boys are liable to do it and, if they do swing into the same kind of a stride that they showed almost continuously from July 4 to August 15, it will be bad for the Mackmen.

That, of course, is our only chance of winning now. We will have to tear loose and hit the ball and we will have to have good pitching along with it.

OUT-PLAYED.
The Athletics have out-hit us and they've outfielded us in the two games played so far. They've had the good breaks or at least the good breaks. We haven't had a break and along with it we haven't played some baseball. We have been hit in the pinches.

But in that second game the Cubs showed they could hit speedy pitching when they knocked Earnshaw out in the fifth inning. He's a fast one. Of course, he was a little wild, but he was effective until we had a chance to study him a bit and after that we backed him still. At least the other boys did. Still I can't forget he fanned me twice.

When Grove came in, he gave us a different brand of stuff to look at, and before we could get used to it the game was over. The Cubs can hit the kind of pitching and I feel sure it will be done if we get another chance at him. I guess we'll get another chance at him, if we can get going in the next two days and win those games.

Just because the Athletics have won two and we've won none is no reason to think they'll win the next two or even two out of the next three. The Cubs are just as liable to win two games in a row as the Athletics are.

FOXX IS HERO.
So far the hitting hero of the series is Jimmy Foxx. He must feel pretty good about it even if we don't. He can hit a wall hard. It was a long drive he delivered in the second game when it cleared the left field wall. Not so many balls are hit over that wall. But some of our fellows have done it. It doesn't mean that we can't ever hit like he does. However, he is the one who has delivered so far and all credit is due him. I will be glad to see him again in the second, he broke the ice with a home run.

The homer hit by Simmons was a corker because it was against a stiff wind. That right field screen is not so very far, but it seems a long way when the wind is coming in strong as it was today.

Playing in the home field of the Mackmen will be new to our fellows and the general belief is that the home team has a big advantage. But now we know that isn't true at all. The Cubs were the home team in the first two games and we sure didn't play as if we had the advantage. It may be that in performing on a new and strange field we'll get some lucky breaks.

We surely need them.

3 Famed Pilots Die Within Year
Three of the most famous managers in the history of baseball died in less than a year.

First was the death of Jack Dunn in the fall of 1928, and then the death of George Stallings this last week. The third was the death of Miller Huggins.

Dunn won seven straight pennants, and developed more $100,000 ball players than any other man—Ruth, Grove, Earnshaw, Boley, Bishop and others.

George Stallings was the miracle man of baseball, taking "an impossible" team in 1914 and coming from last to first and then whipping the A's soundly in straight for the world's title.

Huggins managed the Yankees and Babe Ruth. He won six pennants and three world series.

These men all died before their time was up. They were each of a nervous disposition. They exhausted themselves early.

But in the minds of baseball people and fans they will live forever.

Generals Work For Wildcats
Lexington, Va., October 9.—Reviewing the wreckage of the Washington and Lee-North Carolina State game last Friday points to a spectacular battle when the Generals met the University of Kentucky Wildcats Saturday in the Kentucky-ians' opening conference game.

While making a mediocre showing from a standpoint of straight football, and while exhibiting a lack of sustained drive, the General eleven flashed a set of backfield acres to dazzle N. C. State in the third quarter to the tune of 27 points, after being outplayed throughout the first half for six counters.

The W. & L. backs, dead in an open field, were smothered for three quarters of the Carolina game last week as the enemy lineemen seeped through to smash the General's offensive before the backs could get under way. During the one quarter they broke loose, Mattor, Faulkner, Thibodeau and Williams scored four touchdowns and brought the stands to their feet with their passes and running.

Williams, tall end, who was largely responsible for the Carolinians' 48-6 defeat last year, further endeared himself to N. C. State Friday when he galloped to two touchdowns on passes. The Generals, lacking a scoring drive, dazzled State with passes in the third quarter to account for three scores. Williams, also a sprint star, makes his first bow to Kentucky Saturday, as he was hurt in the Carolina game last year and shelved for the season.

Clark Eleven Hard at Work

Clark university's Panthers went through a long workout yesterday, preparing for their game with the Miles Memorial aggregation Saturday afternoon on the Clark university athletic field.

After the preliminary work, two varsity teams lined up for a scrimmage with one using Miles Memorial formations. Neither team was able to register a touchdown. Before the scrimmage Coach Taylor of the Clark outfit took charge of the tackles and sent them through a practice.

Miles Memorial college is expected to give the Atlanta school a tough battle. Coach Taylor stated that he would not take any chances by starting his second team against the visitors. The game is a conference contest and he will not take any chances. With one of the largest squads and the strongest line in the school's history, it is expected that the 1929 Clark university football season will be one of the best among the colored institutions in the south.

Bezdek To Write For Constitution
Hugo Bezdek, one of the nation's greatest football coaches, has joined the sports staff of The Constitution. His first article appears in the sport section this morning. The Penn State coach will contribute a series of articles. He is well-fitted to write them. He played four years at halfback at Chicago. As coach of Oregon his team defeated Pennsylvania in 1916 at Pasadena. As coach of Penn State he has turned out great teams and many stars, notably Glenn Killenger, Joe Bedenk and Charley Way, all-American players. Harry Wilson, Hinkie Haines, Cubbage and Snell are others developed by Bezdek.

As president of the American Coaches' Association and a member of the coaches' advisory committee to the national rules committee he is unusually prepared to write on football in an interesting fashion. Watch for his articles in The Constitution.

Savannah High May Lose Star
Savannah, Ga., October 9.—(AP)—Savannah High school's chances of victory over Athens High on the gridiron were seriously threatened today when it became known that Harry Cox, star backfield man of the local team, was injured yesterday and will be out of the line-up for several weeks and possibly the remainder of the season.

Cox wrenched his knee in scrimmage practice and is under a physician's care. The Bluejackets will leave here tomorrow to meet Athens High in the preliminary event to the Yale-Georgia game Saturday.

South Carolina Switches Games

Columbia, S. C., October 9.—(AP)—All three of the college football games scheduled for South Carolina soil this week will be played Friday instead of Saturday, as the result of a general revision of schedules, it became known today.

The three home encounters find Furman meeting Presbyterian College in Greenville, Wofford battling Erskine at Spartanburg, and Clemson combating North Carolina State at Florence.

The switch from Saturday to Friday was made, presumably, as a gesture to the Yale-Georgia game dedicating the new stadium at Athens. Many South Carolina fans are planning to take in this game.

Coach Bezdek Explains Why New Football Rules Were Created

CHANGES MADE TO HELP GAME AND AID FANS

Veteran Penn State Coach Says Committee Should Be Commended.

By Hugo Bezdek, Head Football Coach of Penn State. Penn State, Pa., October 9. Though the football season of 1929 is well under way, football fans throughout the country continue to puzzle over the changes in the football rules for the season.

There has been plenty said pro and con concerning the rule changes advocated and passed last winter by the football rules committee. In many cases strong opinion has been expressed against any changes whatever in the rules, resulting in considerable criticism of the committee. It is worth while to examine the constitutionality of the committee and its workings to get a proper conception of how it operates.

Some years ago the rules committee was composed of representatives of several of the larger eastern colleges by acclamation or mutual consent of the colleges without any authority as to its composition coming from anyone but within themselves. Today the football rules committee is appointed by the National Collegiate Athletic Association, which in turn has for its membership practically all of the leading colleges in every part of the United States.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association is divided into geographical districts. Each district has a representative on the football rules committee. This brings together a representative group of the football interests throughout the United States. In addition to this committee there are two members at large appointed by the president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and two advisory committees, one representing the football officials of the country and the other the American Football Coaches' Association.

Concerning the latter addition there is some interesting history.

DEMAND RECOGNITION. The American Football Coaches' Association became quite indignant over the fact that everyone seemed to be represented upon the football rules committee except the Football Coaches' Association. There took place a short series of indignation meetings in New York city some two or three years ago while the coaches' association was in session.

Due to the tactful methods of the chairman of the football rules committee the American Football Coaches' Association was asked to have a committee appointed to represent its association at the football rules committee meeting. Naturally the meetings quickly ended.

MAKE OWN RULES. Yet the old feeling of keeping away the football coaches from any legislative acts concerning the game itself was quite evident. For the coaches' association was about to formulate football rules themselves and play accordingly. This would have aroused feeling among the faculties and possibly adverse feeling from the public at large. Recognition of the "man in harness," so to speak, proved a very happy solution.

The football rules committee meets usually about the first week in February. This meeting has been moved up at the instance of the football coaches, due to the fact that the book of rules did not come into the hands of the coaches until early September. The summer coaching schools held during July and August desired the new rules so that they could study them during the classes. In view thereof, the chairman of the football rules committee has endeavored and succeeded in producing the football rules earlier.

HOW COMMITTEE WORKS. It is interesting, at least to me, to see how this vital organ, the football rules committee, operates. The meeting usually is held in a secluded place so there is no disturbance from the public or from interested parties. The session lasts from two and a half to three days. Work starts upon arrival and continues each morning and afternoon, and many times until 11 p. m. daily. The physical equipment of the room indicates one of serious business.

Blackboards, paper and pencil, rule books and all the paraphernalia necessary for its workings are in evidence. Sub-committees are appointed at once to consider all questions, suggestions, changes of rules that have been sent to the representatives of the various districts. The material is all tabulated so as to avoid duplication.

First consideration is given to major changes in the rules. These receive preliminary discussion but lie over for later consideration. All phases of every problem are talked over and then, by one, every angle looked into and tested. Some are quickly proved ambiguous. Gradually the worthy football coach is able to see the value of the rule before the meeting for adoption or to be held over for further consideration. At times the coaches themselves make actual demonstration of the points under discussion.

SEEK PLAYING BALANCE. The fundamental policy of the committee is to keep defense and offense as nearly equal as possible and yet introduce any new thought that may advance the game and keep up with modern thought.

Contrary to public opinion the committee shuns new changes and is constantly in fear of undermining the fundamentals of the game itself. Furthermore, it realizes that it takes considerable amount of time for the public at large to acquaint itself with new changes, which causes considerable amount of dissatisfaction. Then the changes sometimes do not work out in the manner in which they were originally conceived. Due to experience the committee is prone to be ultra-conservative.

V. P. I. Engages Penn Saturday Blacksburg, Va., October 9.—Virginia Polytechnic Institute will cross the Mason and Dixon line next Saturday to play the University of Pennsylvania on Franklin field, the home battleground of the powerful Quaker teams. This will be the only inter-sectional game of the year for Coach Gustafson's eleven and the first appearance of a V. P. I. team on the historic field.

The Quaker eleven, heralded in press reports as the strongest to flaunt the Blue and Scarlet in years, stands as the most formidable barrier to realization of V. P. I.'s gridiron ambitions this year. The V. P. I. team will be outwitted and will lose fewer veterans than the teams which faced Colgate in 1927 and 1928. Past inter-sectional wins prove that the Gobblers play their best football when the odds are against them and upon this the coaches and V. P. I. fans have their hopes for a creditable showing.

The world series games will be in full tilt in Philadelphia when V. P. I. is small concern to the hundreds of Institute alumni in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware. The other great fundamental policy is to simplify the rules so that everyone may easily understand them. In behalf of the committee it may be said that they have done a wonderful piece of work and deserve commendation.

TULANE'S WAVE NOW TREATENS DIXIE LEADERS

Greenies Develop Into Strong Team—Loom as Threat.

New Orleans, October 9.—(Special.)—The big Green Wave of Tulane university is pounding hard on the Dixie football front.

Those who may have taken the charges of Coach Bernie Bierman lightly before the season started were forced to do a right-about Saturday when the Greenies splashed through a series of tropical showers to a 13-10 victory over Texas A. & M. The Macaroni Aggies of New Orleans, considered the leading contender for the Southwestern conference championship, and determined to add an inter-sectional victory to their list.

Instead they met a superior line, a harder and speedier running attack and finally saw their own weapon—the forward pass—turned on them to take the game.

The Greenies have proved conclusively that they possess no less than five scoring threats in the backfield. The Armstrong, veteran halfback, continues to show the way with Bul Banker as the best running back while Wop Glover, sophomore, kicked the field goals and finally took a short pass from Armstrong to race 20 yards for the deciding score.

The line play of the Greenies was far superior to that shown a week ago, and the fact that Tulane made 222 yards from scrimmage against the Aggies shows the margin of difference in running offense.

This week Coach Bierman must point his team toward its first Southern conference game, Mississippi A. & M. The team that held Georgia Tech 27 to 13 will be in New Orleans to play in the big upstart stadium, and with fair weather more than 17,000 fans are expected out. Despite the battle of the elements, which included sprinkles, electrical storms, torrential downpours and a rainbow appearance at the last, 15,000 fans sat through Saturday's game.

Sports writers hailed the Aggie-Greenie game as the greatest thriller ever produced in New Orleans.

The Greenies can consider Banker, Armstrong, Musser, Baumback and Dawson as passing the word from now on. These boys have shown they can throw the oval when necessary, while Banker, Glover and Dawson all punt well.

Banker showed his greatest play in the first of Saturday's game against the Texans. He blocked beautifully in helping Armstrong get away on his touchdown jump, made the last tackle of the half which stopped the Aggies on Tulane's 3-yard line and did a fine piece of broken-field running in running the ball 40 yards down field.

Notables To See Tide-Vol Tilt Knoxville, Tenn., October 9.—(AP)—Governor Bibb Graves, of Alabama, and Governor Horton, of Tennessee, have been invited by the University of Tennessee Alumni Association to attend the Tennessee-Alabama football game here October 10, but no word had been received from them today.

Merrill Arnold, president of the association, said the governors would be guests of honor at a homecoming day celebration in connection with the game, providing they accepted the invitation.

ing ground balls to offset the helpful value of his hits.

There were two out when Fox out-started Malone's last ball in the third inning, swinging early and pulling it around so far that it sailed far to the left not may feet from the foul line. Malone had struck out the side in the first inning, giving Cochrane a base on balls in the doing, but the Athletics began to dispute his command in the second and it was not long before Joseph McCarthy recognized Pat as an expensive mistake.

It was surprising to see George Earnshaw, water, wobble and almost explode in the fifth inning as he had advanced on Chicago with a feeling of almost apathetic calm and a hangman's confidence.

JUST A BALL CLUB.

The Cubs, to him, were merely a ball club, like many another club that he had beaten as because his victims greatly outnumbered his beatings, he reflected that in all probability, he, George Earnshaw, could whip the Cubs, too. In the official sense I believe he did but it was most Grove's long, loose-hung left arm that whipped the service up the lane to hold the homebase unsettled and likely to flop in the fifth. Hornsby and Hack Wilson, who had stirred up cyclones of wind by the fury of their swings to start the inning and Stephenson's single to right field scored Hornsby. Grimm got the third hit in the inning, scoring Wilson, and Taylor, the Cubs' catcher, banged a resolute drive straight back at the handsome substitute, which drilled him in his center and seemed a better than even bet to come out his back. This scored Stephenson and Connie Mack, from his hidden post of command, sent Eddie Collins down the third base line to ask Melanchoy Mose Grove if he thought he was hot enough to pitch. From the stands, Mose could be seen to nod his head on his long, scrawny neck and Mr. Collins, turning about, nodded to Mr. Mack.

So Mose shed his jacket and walked in to pitch in his first world series, meeting Gabby Hartnett, the Cubs' nimble-arm catcher, as a pinch hitter. Gabby fanned in keeping with the local custom and Mose was off on his world series career. I suppose he didn't know enough about Hartnett to be intimidated. He isn't very great on knowing, anyway, but for anything he hasn't stored away in his head he can generally find an equivalent in his arm.

Now the two ball clubs are playing hearts, pinhole and bridge on their way to Philadelphia, and it begins to look as though the National league would have a heavy winter's work for Mr. Cullen Cain, the hired propagandist of the group. It has been three years since the National won a world series game from the American league and if the A's should win four straight from the Cubs, Mr. Cain is going to have an interesting job explaining why these tests are not only indicative while still maintaining that the world series is the great autumnal showdown of baseball.

STANDS FILLED. The attendance filled the grandstands notwithstanding the hardship of the weather but there was a small patch of empty space in the left end of the left field bleachers about the spot where Fox dumped his home run in the third. The Fox boy is very gay about it all but I don't believe he is carried away by the crowd noises because his contract comes up for renewal this winter and he has been thinking of the convertible cash value of his work, also tipping his cap to the ladies and gents.

James and the English boy are the two new voters of last year's class and they have been the most aggressive hitters in the series. But Fox has been galloping around first base for the A's with fine effect if no grace, whereas English has been kickoughly annoyed at the futility of the big guns at the plate that it boomed Rogers Hornsby when he fanned for the fourth time in two days and howled Kiki Cuyler as he struck out for the fifth time. Before he retired under fire, Earnshaw chalked up seven strikeouts and Grove added six more fanning the first three men to face him and shooting over seven successive strikes in the sixth inning to explode the myth that the Cubs are sure death to southpaws, especially southpaw speedball artists.

The aggregate total of 26 strikeouts for the Cubs in two games surpasses anything in world's series history for futility at bat. Alone of the regulars, First Baseman Charley Grimm has escaped being fanned on either day by Elmer, Earnshaw or Grove. Cuyler, Hornsby and Wilson, three of the foremost sluggers, have fanned 11 times, while four pinch hitters have been numbered among the victims, Gabby Hartnett twice.

LOSING STREAK. With such a performance, the representatives of the National league took it on the chin for the tenth straight game in the worst series losing streak on record. Not since 1926 when Hornsby led the Cardinals to victory over the Yankees, has the National league had a chance to cheer a triumph in the big autumn carnival.

They still have a chance, the Cubs, but it seemed to be fast fading into the distance today as the Athletics forged ahead at the same pace their predecessors, the Yankees, maintained in 1927 and 1928. As the warring forces moved to Philadelphia for the third game, scheduled Friday at Shibe park, the Athletics needed only two more conquests to win their first world's championship since 1913 and their fourth in six tries.

Three games are scheduled in Philadelphia and the A's with their vastly superior pitching forces only just beginning to be tapped, are favored to end the series within that period, unless the Cubs put on a comeback of the first magnitude. The Bruins have been noted this year for their ability to fight back but they looked today to be as thoroughly licked as did either the Cardinals of 1928 or the Pirates of 1927.

FOUR PITCHERS. The National league champions used four pitchers today in their desperate efforts to check the onrush of the mauling Mackmen but only one, the veteran southpaw, Art Nehf, who pitched in the ninth, escaped without being hit for at least one safe blow. This was Nehf's fifth world's series after a lapse since he was the star of the Champion Giants of 1921-24, but he showed enough stuff in his brief appearance to warrant a second try, if he may be called into action later.

Guy Bush is slated to twirl the third game for Chicago on Friday but Nehf probably will be first relief. Guy Bush has veiled his pitching choices so far successfully and completely, until just before each game, but the probability is that either Jack Quinn or Babe Wabers will go to the box in the next fray.

The Athletics needed a ninth-inning squirt to clinch the opening game but they settled the issue this afternoon in much quicker order by attacking Pat Malone, the big right-hander, for six runs in the third and fourth innings as Fox and Simmons found the range with men on bases. They came back with another flourish later, after the Cubs had cut their rivals' lead in half, but it wasn't necessary except to make it more convincing to the crowd and the Cubs.

HITTING HERO.

The youthful Fox, barely old enough to vote and making his first appearance in a world's series, again made himself a hitting hero by blasting a home run over the right-field wall into the temporary bleachers in the third inning, with Cochrane and Simmons on base. This heroic blow by the big first baseman started the downfall of Malone, just as his homer yesterday proved the undoing of Charley Root.

At Simmons landed the knockout blow on Malone, however, in the fourth when he shot a single to center with the bases full of Mackmen. Dykes opened this decisive rally with a single, Boyer sacrificed, Earnshaw was safe on Elwood English's third error of the series and Max Bishop walked to fill the bases. Dykes scored on Hank's rap to English, who ran back to force out Bishop at second. Malone, fast wicketed, passed Cochrane and was replaced by Sheriff Blake. Steve Simmons drove in Earnshaw and Haas with a single. The Sheriff forced Fox to pop out and the rally was over.

Fox's single, with Miller's sacrifice and a single to left by Dykes, produced another run in the seventh and Simmons, in the eighth, scored by Cochrane ahead of him with a drive that landed beyond the wire fence guarding the runway in extreme right field.

FEATURE. The big feature of the A's attack, aside from the timeliness of the blows by Fox and Simmons, was that eight of their nine runs were scored with two out. The extreme bottom of the A's batting order demonstrated some weakness but as soon as the Cub pitching began to wobble, Cochrane, Simmons, Fox, Miller and Dykes they found themselves in plenty of trouble.

Earnshaw, the Swarthmore college alum, who won 22 games for the Mackmen this year, was wild from the start but he managed to get out of trouble until the fifth, when the Cubs put on their one and only hitting barrage.

It looked as though Earnshaw was about to blow up in the third, when he walked three men to fill the bases with two out. This brought the dangerous Riggs Stephenson up and the big pitcher tossed three straight balls before he regained control, put over two strikes and then forced Stephenson to fly out.

The mob that had been curious to see how effective one of Mack's star left-handers would be against the right-handed Cub sluggers quickly found out. Grove stood the big hitters on their heads with a blazing fast-break curve that cut the corners and left them dizzy. Several times the Bruins stood at the plate with bats on

Tuskegee Plays Soldiers Today

Columbus, Ga., October 9.—(AP)—Lieutenant Ellison, coach of the Twenty-fourth infantry football team, announced today that his players were in fine condition for the game tomorrow at Tuskegee, Ala., with the institute's strong eleven.

Tuskegee institute has been rated as one of the leading negro teams in the south. Last Saturday they defeated the A. and T. college of North Carolina by 21 to 0, while the infantry team beat Morris Brown at Atlanta on the same day by 6 to 0, after a scoreless tie with the Alabama State Teachers' college the week before.

Today, one of the soldier halfbacks, Ellison, and Strong, star wing man, probably will be out of the game tomorrow because of injuries received last Saturday, Coach Ellison said.

N. Y. U., Fordham Clash Saturday

New York, October 9.—New York university and Fordham university clash on the gridiron for the tenth time in the Yankee stadium Saturday afternoon in a metropolitan championship struggle, but it will be the sixth meeting between the rival coaches, Chick Mehan, of N. Y. U., and Major Frank Cavanaugh, of Fordham. In two of these meetings, Mehan was a player opposed to a team coached by the present Maroon mentor.

The series started back in 1915 when Chick Mehan was quarterback on the Syracuse university eleven and ran that team into a scoreless tie with a Dartmouth team coached by Cavanaugh. In 1916 Mehan was again at quarter for the Orange and that year Dartmouth won.

As opposing coaches the first meeting between the pair resulted in a triumph for Mehan, when his Syracuse boys in 1924 defeated Boston college, then coached by Cavanaugh. In 1927 and in 1928 the Mehan-coached N. Y. U. eleven have won from Fordham, 32 to 0, and 34 to 7.

CADETS MISS A.A.C. PROGRAM

Riverside Boxers Unable To Appear Here Friday Night.

With the Riverside Cadets unable to appear on the card, Coach Joe Bean, athletic director of the Atlanta Athletic Club, declared Wednesday night that he would go through with the program scheduled for Friday, using his own boxers, and that the card would not suffer at all.

Riverside had originally intended to send a full team here for the affair, but Bobby Hooks, coach of the Cadet squad, found that all his boxers were playing with the grid team in one capacity or another and that the conflicting duties would prevent them from making the trip.

Bean worked his club charges hard last night, and promised that they would be able to fill any gaps which might have been expected. He has a large squad working out at the gym and has a number of first-class boxers among the crew.

The card Friday will start at 8:30 o'clock, and will be composed of eight boxing bouts over the regulation three-round amateur distance. One wrestling bout will also be inserted on the program, according to present plans, although the contestants have not yet been announced.

Bean has 16 youngsters available for the card, but has not yet matched them.

They are H. Brignau, Truman Reeves, H. Davis, Tony Beers, Vincent Cunningham, Frankie Guilford, Tom Ellis, Joe Woodford, Stewart Enzer, James Allen, J. H. Oetter, Tom Wallis, Max Morris, Jimmy Hinton, Earnest Howard and Frank Vincent.

Coach Tolbert, W. O. Cheney, principal of Tech High, and 30 members of the school band will accompany the team.

Southeastern League Proposes Salary Cut

Owners Face Lean Year Unless Reductions Are Made in Salaries and Player Limit.

Selma, Ala., October 9.—(AP)—Unless measures of economy are instituted at once prospects for continuing the Southeastern league are not bright, directors of the league declared at their annual meeting here today.

Sharp cuts in both player and salary limits were recommended, but definite action was deferred to a further discussion. H. P. Thompson, business manager of the Montgomery Club and one of the league directors, proposed that the player limit be reduced from 15 to 14, including the manager.

This suggestion later was tabled and consideration given to a motion of W. P. Beddows, president of the Jacksonville, Fla., club, proposing that the salary limit be fixed at $3,500 for each club, not including that of the manager. His salary would be set by the club owners. Vote on the motion was withheld to permit a late recess for luncheon.

President Cliff Green, of Montgomery, in his annual report recommended an increase in club guarantees from $3,500 to $5,000 and expansion of the circuit to include eight clubs. The league now is composed of six. Cities suggested for consideration were: Macon, Ga.; Marietta, Ga.; Meridian, Miss.; Miami, Fla.; Havana, Cuba.

The report of the president also described the season just ended as one of the most successful in the history of the league, despite a decrease in attendance which forced a split season. All contractual obligations of the league were met, the report said, and the results of the post-season series between Tampa and Montgomery were a disappointment to the league directors to divide the season.

S. E. League Holds Green.

Selma, Ala., October 9.—(AP)—Directors of the Southeastern league, in annual session here, tonight declined to accept the resignation of Cliff Green, Montgomery, as president, gave him a unanimous vote of confidence and voted radical amendments to the league constitution in support of a program of economy approved earlier in the day.

Mr. Green tendered his resignation several days ago, stating business matters required his attention. After tonight's action, however, he agreed to continue as president, secretary and treasurer of the league until his regular term expires in 1930. The directors voted a vote of confidence in Harry Thompson, of Montgomery, vice president of the league.

The directors voted to increase the guarantee required of each club from $3,500 to $5,000 and reduced salary limits from $4,500 to $3,200.

Fox, Simmons Bat Macks to Victory

after Charley Root had been beaten on the opening day, was getting along pretty well for the first couple of innings, but went to pieces in the third. With two out, Mickey Malone, who had been working up to the "three and a half" stage on nearly every Philadelphia batter, worked himself in to deep on Al Simmons, and gave the latter a base on balls.

FOX HITS HOMER.

This brought up Jimmy Fox, and Jimmy brought down the house with a smashing home run which soared far into the new and temporary stands out beyond the left field wall. The three Mackmen jogged across the plate, while the Cubs gathered anxiously around Malone and felt his pulse.

It was Jimmy's second homer of the series and, like yesterday's blow, it broke the ice and started the scoring.

From the moment when the three Mackmen did their gleeful dance on the home plate, the Chicago Cubs were a better ball club. They seemed to know it, and certainly the vast crowd of erstwhile loyal rooters sensed it.

There were 49,987 customers shivering in the stands, and it wasn't long before many of them were booing and protesting in other ungentlemanly ways every time Rogers Hornsby, Hack Wilson and several other Chicago players came to the plate.

Earnshaw filled the bases by giving three passes in the Chicago half of the third, but even this failed to bring forth much enthusiasm from the fans, and no runs ensued.

END FOR MALONE.

The end came for Pat Malone in the fourth, when three more runs were added to the visitors' total.

Woody English, the Chicago shortstop, who was such a help to the Athletics in the first game, contributed his bit towards the present day's decisive run by shooting an easy chance to retire Earnshaw, after Jimmy Dykes had singled and Joe Boley had sacrificed.

The Cubs' shortstop, who now has a total of three errors for the series, went wild in trying to beat Earnshaw to first, but he failed to complete a possible double play a moment later, and Dykes scored on an infield force out.

Pat Malone walked a couple of men, and Al Simmons drove in two more runs with a single to center.

At this stage of the proceedings, Joe McCarthy, who with a dejected air and beckoned to Malone to come off the field, Sheriff Blake went in and managed to get the side out.

Trailing by six runs, and with the din of a hostile crowd in their ears, the Cubs came momentarily to life in the fifth inning.

Rogers Hornsby got his first hit of the series, after English had popped out to Dykes. Hack Wilson followed with his first hit in two days. Both blows were clean singles to right field.

Kiki Cuyler, who was in a bad batting slump today, struck out, but Stephenson, Grimm and Taylor singled in quick succession and three Chicago runs came over the plate.

That was the signal for Earnshaw's retirement and "Lefty" Grove struck out Gabby Hartnett who was up there as a pinch hitter for Blake.

Thus ended the scoring for Chicago. If these Cubs are the same ones who were reported as particularly effective against left handed pitching during the National League season, some one has been doing some exceedingly erroneous reporting.

GROVE EFFECTIVE.

When he chose "Lefty" Grove had them breaking their backs. The grey day, bitter cold, was made to order for "Lefty." His fast ball was smacking into Mickey Malone's glove before the Cubs could get their bats off their shoulders.

After he had fanned Hartnett to end the first game, Grove opened up the sixth by striking out McMullan and English, each on three pitched balls.

Rogers Hornsby managed to scrape a roller down to Fox, but it was a feeble effort.

Incidentally, the "Rajah" is by way of being one of the most perfect "busts" of the current series. He is slow about playing rather indifferently, letting a lot of balls get past him without undue effort and once this afternoon he nearly failed to cover first base at all, when Charley Grimm had gone in after a punt.

Hal Carlson took up the pitching duties for Chicago after awhile, and he was touched for three runs, two on a homer by Al Simmons in the eighth.

STRAIGHT BASEBALL.

In the previous inning, the Athletics had gone out and scored themselves a run by straight baseball, just as though they needed it. Fox touched Carlson for a single to left and Miller dumped down a sacrifice. It was on this play that Hornsby woke up, just in time to cover the bag. Dykes punched a single into left field and Fox, who had started with the pitch, sprinted home.

With two out in the eighth, Carlson walked Mickey Cochrane. Al Simmons, who was beginning to grow envious of Jimmy Fox's success as a home run hitter in this series, hit a long fly over the right field fence.

The crowd, which had not been misled by Chicago's momentary success in the fifth, applauded this feat enthusiastically, just as though Al had been one of their own boys.

It was an artistic wallop, at that, although it hardly could be described as timely.

Al may catch up with Jimmy in the matter of home runs when they get to work down in Shibe park later in the week, but Fox certainly produced the temporary seats built outside the park on the left field side obtained a baseball.

Simmons, with Cochrane waiting to score in the eighth, hit one of Carl's long ones over the right field fence.

High lights.

Captain Charley Grimm, of the Cubs, and the same Mr. Simmons, who hit the home run, provided the fielding high lights of the day. Grimm's spectacular work came in a low wide throw which Woody English turned loose. Simmons, for the second time in two days, leaped into the left field bleachers to rob a Cub of a hit. The unlucky one today was Riggs Stephenson.

Grove's great showing gives Mack a fine hand to play during the next two days. He has both Grove and Rube Walberg, considered the two best left-handers of his league. That Connie was a bit leary of using a left-hander against the right hand batting order of the Cubs was evident when he put Earnshaw to work today.

Big George was pretty good when he got the ball over, but the extent of his wildness may be gleaned from the fact that at one time he had three men on base, all because of passes, and three balls and no strikes on the next batter. He got the next two over and then Stephenson fled to left.

Root Best Met.

Charley Root is McCarthy's best bet for the third game in Shibe park, while Connie Mack is sitting back, wearing the sun of the east which ate the canary. Connie can keep the boys guessing now, for he has both left and right hurlers of proved effectiveness.

Unless something happens and the Cubs take a decided brace, there will be no one hanging around for a look at them when they return from Philadelphia.

GRIMM BEST.

Captain Charley Grimm is just about the best of the lot thus far, and he hasn't been hitting. Grimm contributed the Chicago fielding feature of the second game, a great one-handed stab of Woody English's wild heave in the second inning.

There were not many brilliant fielding features this afternoon. Al Simmons again went over to the left field and plucked out a foul fly with one hand, but this is getting to be a habit with Al, and as a matter of fact, the fans in the vicinity of his grand catch would rather have had a chance to scramble for the baseball.

Fighting over balls which go into the stands is a great Chicago pastime. In view of the showing of the city's best ball club, one rather wonders why.

1929 Is Similar To 1928 on Grid

A few football games have been played and there is a great similarity between the football of 1929 and the football of 1928.

The rules haven't made the game unrecognizable, as some have feared. The old saw, anticipation is more pleasant than realization, is always reversed in this instance.

When the rule makers cut and back at the game in the middle of each winter the good folks who pay for the stadiums, etc., fear the worst.

And we're still looking for those great changes promised by some of the newer schools of coaching.

The only change apparent this far is the tendency of many coaches to revert back to the middle ages of the gridiron game and dig up fullbacks who can crash line.

Fullbacks don't grow on every bush but they're worth looking for.

Keys Hit Slump, Hunts New Boss

It is rumored that a new manager will hold the reins at Reading in the International League next year. The Keys had a disastrous season, slumping from a first place berth in early season, to seventh and the fans are after Harry Hinesman, manager for the last two years.

Jack Leivelt, who managed Milwaukee until the middle of the season and then became manager at Los Angeles, is being boosted for the job. Both Reading and Los Angeles are owned by the Cubs.

CONNIE HOLDS BIG ADVANTAGE

By Bert Demby.

United News Staff Correspondent.

Chicago, October 9.—(United News.)—Old Connie Mack, the expression on his face a bit less drawn than it was two days ago, headed for home with his Philadelphia Athletics tonight in as strategic a position as any manager has been at the conclusion of the first two games of a world series.

Not only did the Athletics leave with a pair of victories, but they took with them the knowledge that at least one of their two star left-handers has proven his worth against the Cubs.

Mack, with a three-run lead, sent Lefty Grove in this afternoon and the southpaw star pitched four and one-third innings of shutout ball, struck out six men and in general proved that the famed Cubs' murderers' row, which has been death to left-handers all season, holds no terrors for him.

EARNSHAW WOBBLY.

Lefty went to the relief of George Earnshaw, whose inclination to throw a ball anywhere but where he wanted it caused his replacement.

Meanwhile, the Athletics hitters slaughtered four Cubs pitchers, Malone, Carlson, Blake and Nehf, for 12 hits, including two four-bag wallops and nine runs.

Other than Grove's pitching and the general peppy actions of the Athletics, the high lights of today's game seemed to be the homers.

The first sailed off the bat of young Jimmy Fox, who has played practically every position this year. With two men on in the third, Jimmy belted one of Pat Malone's fast ones with such force that some bleachers in the temporary seats built outside the park on the left field side obtained a baseball.

Simmons, with Cochrane waiting to score in the eighth, hit one of Carl's long ones over the right field fence.

Boys' High Scores Points in Second

Doyal's Machine Shows to Advantage—Davis Makes Two Touchdowns.

Using the two-team system with effectiveness, Boys' High overwhelmed University School for Boys, 32 to 0, Wednesday afternoon at Spiller field. Coach Doyal used his varsity in the first two quarters of the game and after piling up a lead of 32 points, a substitute team was sent in. The substitute team held University school scoreless in the last two quarters and likewise was held scoreless by the hard-fighting Bluebird eleven.

Although it was clearly outplayed in almost every quarter of the game, University was never outfought. They were in the thick of the fight on every play and deserve much praise for their aggressiveness.

Especially was the work of Theodosian, at center, above par. He was in almost every play and backed up the line, forcing Boys' High to resort to passing and wide end runs to gain ground. Grogan at left half-back and Farham at left end also played spectacular football for University.

After being held on even terms in the first quarter, Boys' High began an offensive in the second that netted 32 points. Davis scored the first touchdown on a short buck, after the ball had been placed in scoring position, with several long passes. The second came right after when Howard, substitute halfback, reversed his field and ran 15 yards to a touchdown. He started on the left side but cut back and ran around right end.

"Wink" Davis scored the third marker when he intercepted a "Bluebird" pass and ran 40 yards to a touchdown. A pass, Spratling to Howard, was good for 28 yards and a touchdown, and Turman, substitute halfback, ran 65 yards to score the last touchdown. His run came after receiving a University punt late in the second quarter.

In the third quarter Coach Doyal used a mixed-up varsity line and a second and third-string backfield. The scrubs gained several first downs but lacked the drive of the first team and was within the University 25-yard line only once.

The entire Boys' High team showed up well and several more touchdowns could have been scored but Coach Doyal elected to give every player in uniform a chance.

University had only one chance to score and that was in the first quarter when the ball was on the Boys' High 25-yard line after an exchange of punts and several neat gains. The Hurricane line tightened up and held for downs, after which Coach Speer's lads had no chance to score.

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN No. 46

Somehow Rokoff managed to escape before the apes saw him, and as Tarzan entered the "bom-ba" the five sailors, recognizing him, fled in the opposite direction. Carefully he circled the outside of the enclosure and soon came to indications that something had recently passed into the jungle. Moreover, his acute sense of smell told him that both of those he sought had fled in the same direction.

Ever afterward Jane wondered how she lived safely through that night alone in the awful jungle. On this second day, the terror-stricken girl was slinking along a narrow game trail, fearful that the next movement would bring her face to face with some savage beast or equally savage man. As she ran on, hoping her direction was toward the great river, she came suddenly upon a strange sight.

Hiding in a clump of heavy bush, she watched. A great ape sat surrounded by several smaller ones, and in their midst a lithe, sinewy panther glided to and fro. If he was surprised at the sight of these natural enemies fraternizing, it was with emotions little short of fear for her own sanity that she saw them presently joined by a tall, muscular warrior. Now she saw that he seemed actually giving them orders.

The entire company filed on across the clearing and disappeared in the jungle. She could not know that they were Beasts of Tarzan. But another individual, a half mile behind her, lay frozen with terror as the hideous band passed quite close to the ant hill behind which he hid. This one was Rokoff; and he recognized the members of the awesome aggregation as allies of Tarzan of the Apes.

Of interest throughout eastern and southern social circles is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Katherine Murphy and Dr. Julian Gladstone Riley which was quietly solemnized yesterday morning at 10 o'clock at Hillcrest, the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. John E. Murphy, on Peachtree street. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Cotter, of the Sacred Heart Church, in the presence of a small group of relatives and close friends.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Julia Murphy Whitehead, was her only attendant, and Dr. LeRoy Childs attended the groom as best man. Joseph Gattins, of New York, the bride's uncle, gave her in marriage. The bride's exquisite blonde beauty was accentuated by her modish costume of brown chiffon and brown lace. Her hat was a striking model of brown velvet and she carried a bouquet of valley lilies.

Immediately after the marriage service, Dr. Riley and his bride left for a trip to the Canadian Rockies where they will visit places of note. On their return the bride and groom will take possession of an apartment, corner of Peachtree and Sixteenth streets.

Both the bride and groom are representatives of prominent southern families, the former having enjoyed wide social prestige in the south and east, where she has been a frequent guest at fashionable winter and summer resorts. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. John E. Murphy, prominent Atlanta matron, and the late John E. Murphy, who was president of the Lowry National Bank of Atlanta and vice president of the Trust Company of Georgia. She is a member of the Junior League here. She attended the Sacred Heart convent and the Washington seminary, and also the Hoffman school in Aiken, S. C. She has enjoyed extensive travel in Europe, where she won international admiration and fame for her unusual beauty and charm.

Dr. Riley was graduated from Emory University in Georgia, and from his medical school. He also took post-graduate courses at the Woman's hospital of New York. He is now associated with Dr. LeRoy Childs at St. Joseph's hospital. He is a member of the Piedmont Driving Club and the Nine O'Clock Club of this city.

Miss Martha Ehle and Mr. Grace Wed at Decatur Church Ceremony

Decatur, Ga., October 9.—Of interest to friends and relatives throughout the south was the beautiful wedding of Miss Martha Lucile Ehle, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hunt Ehle, of Decatur, to Matthew Alexander Grace, of New Orleans, which was solemnized by Dr. D. P. McGeachy at the First Presbyterian church in Decatur last evening at 8:30 o'clock, the double ring ceremony being used. The altar loft was festooned with southern smilax. Palms and ferns formed an effective background for the tall white floor baskets of white dahlias and Easter lilies. Seven-branched candelabra arose from out the palms and ferns, and the white tapers cast a soft glow over the lovely picture. A program of nuptial music was given by Mrs. E. B. Branch, soloist, and Miss Cliff Mable, organist. Mrs. Branch sang "I Love You Truly" and "At Dawning." Miss Mable played "Salut d'Amour" before the ceremony, and "Nevin's Love Song" during the wedding.

The wedding party. To the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin" the ushers, Franklin Chambers, Anthony Green, Robert Palmer and William Webb, entered first. The groomsmen were Robert Alston, W. J. Shiner, Stockton Hale, John Ehle, J. G. Latham and Willis Pellerin, all of New Orleans. They entered simultaneously down opposite aisles and were followed by the bridesmaids, Misses Annie Embrey, Alex Powell, Minnie Grace, of New Orleans, Va.; Genevieve O'Connor, of Norfolk, Va.; Susan Taylor and Agnes Bufington, who entered at the same time from opposite aisles of the church.

All six of the bridesmaids wore gowns of rose-petal pink chiffon, fashioned alike, with tight basques and full skirts cut in four scallops, having uneven hemlines. The skirts were trimmed with narrow point d'esprit ruffles, from the waist to the bottom of the skirts. Their flowers were arm bouquets of pink rosebuds, showered with rainbow ribbons and valley lilies. Satin slippers, matching the gowns completed the costumes.

Miss Rose Grace, of New Orleans, maid of honor, wore green chiffon, fashioned like the bridesmaids' dresses, and carried pink rosebuds showered with orchid ribbons and valley lilies. Mrs. Horace Ehle, matron of honor and another bridesmaid, wore a gown in orchid chiffon, the skirt fashioned in three tiers, and uneven hemline. She carried pink rosebuds showered with green ribbons and valley lilies. Rebecca Ann Lacy, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Lacy, of Decatur, made a charming flower girl in her frock of some narrow point d'esprit ruffles over pink georgette. She carried a muff of sweetheart roses showered with valley lilies.

The lovely bride, blonde and petite, entered with her brother, Fred Ehle, who gave her in marriage. She was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Osmond Wise, of Morgan City, La. Her gown was of a heavy white satin, with long light sleeves, a rose point lace bertha, and circular skirt, uneven hemline. A court train hung from her shoulders. Her tulle veil, edged with duchess lace, was adjusted with seed pearls and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses showered with valley lilies.

Mendelssohn's wedding march was used as a recessional. Mrs. W. D. Grace, of New Orleans, the groom's mother, wore brown transparent chiffon velvet, and a shoulder bouquet of sunset roses.

Wedding Trip. Mr. and Mrs. Grace left on a bridal tour to Florida, whence they will later go to New Orleans, La. The bride's going-away costume was a brown suede crepe ensemble, with finger length coat, tan blouse, and accessories to match.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Grace, Sr., the groom's parents; Misses Rose and Minnie Grace, his sisters; W. D. Grace, Jr., his brother; Dr. Louis Maunus, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Pellerin, all of New Orleans, La.; Osmond Wise, Morgan City, La.; Miss Genevieve O'Connor, William Fred Ehle and Horace Hunt Ehle, Jr., the bride's brothers, of Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. J. W. Rogers, of Marion, and Frank P. May, Sr., of Quincy, Fla.

The Misses Deal Honor Miss Spear. A miscellaneous shower was given by Misses Fannie, Lona and Frances Deal at their home at 971 North avenue, N. E., yesterday afternoon in honor of Miss Maude Spear, whose engagement was recently announced to Charles Lamar Palmer. The living room was decorated for the occasion with tall garden flowers and fern. A feature of the decorations which added sentiment was a miniature altar made of fern and white dahlias. Placed before the altar were a tiny bride and groom and preacher.

Two interesting contests, "Cupid's Romance" and "The Trouseau," were enjoyed by the guests. Prizes were won by Mrs. M. L. A. Yates, Miss Annie Kate Yates, Miss Louise Thomas and Miss Margaret Yates. First prizes were a pink hand-painted ball vase and a hand-painted candy jar. Second prizes were dainty hand-made georgette handkerchiefs. After the contests the bride-to-be was sent on a treasure hunt which carried her all through and around the house, ending in the living room where she found a large white treasure chest filled to overflowing with beautiful gifts, and the exquisitely embossed cake was cut by the bride-to-be.

The hostesses were assisted in entertaining by Miss Louise Eley, and the guests present were Mesdames Lynette Broome, James Sewell, L. N. Turk, W. C. King, R. A. Yates, Misses Maude Spear, Minnie Kate Yates, Louise Eley, Cora Jessop, Florence Gosely, Annie Grace Reynolds, Louise Thomas, Lucille Pritchett, Margaret Yates, Frances Deal, Fannie Deal and Lona Deal.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

THE SURPRISING COCOONS. BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

To every one it should be plain, There's never loss in gain. —Old Mother Nature.

Peter Rabbit was looking down at a big caterpillar covered with tiny white cocoons standing on end. They appeared to be fastened to the caterpillar's back. Peter had thought they were eggs until he was told that they were cocoons. Thellessa, a big wasp-like insect, was the one who had told Peter. She had said that a small cousin of hers—a tiny fly—was responsible for those cocoons. Right away Peter babies had plenty to eat right at hand.

"What did they have to eat?" demanded Peter bluntly.

"Why the caterpillar, of course!" replied Thellessa.

"But they couldn't have eaten the caterpillar," cried Peter, "for here he is right now!"

"There isn't as much of him as there was," replied Thellessa. "If you look at him you'll notice that he isn't very fat. In fact, he isn't fat at all. He looks to me a little shrunken. You see, those little grubs ate the fat under the skin. When they had eaten enough each one made a little hole in the skin and came out."

"Right out on the caterpillar's back?" cried Peter.

"Right out on the caterpillar's back," said Thellessa. "Then each one spun a little cocoon, fastening it to the caterpillar's back. Those are what you are looking at right now."

Peter drew a long breath. "It sounds like a fairy tale," said he. "Oh, my goodness, look at that!"

It was no wonder that Peter exclaimed. Little lads were opening on the upper ends of those cocoons on the caterpillar's back. As soon as a lid flew open a tiny fly crawled out of each little cocoon. They were such tiny flies that Peter would hardly have been likely to notice them had he been watching those cocoons so closely. As soon as they were out of the cocoons they stretched their wings and in a few moments they were flying, some this way and some that way.

"Where are they going now?" cried Peter.

"To look for more caterpillars," replied Thellessa. "Now you know just what that little cousin of mine looks like—the mother of all those little flies."

"Isn't she any bigger than those?" asked Peter.

"No," replied Thellessa. (Copyright, 1929, for The Constitution.)

Light, dainty frocks double the need for this deodorizing sanitary protection

KOTEX IS SOFT...

1—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.

2—Safe, secure... keeps your mind at ease.

3—Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much.

4—In hospitals... Kotex is the identical material used by surgeons in 85% of the country's leading hospitals.

5—Deodorizes, safely, thoroughly by a patented process.

Kotex—4½" for 12—at any drug, dry goods or department store. Kotex Super-Size—6½" for 12.

Kotex is always light, cool, comfortable. It never loses its softness. It simply cannot pack. It is so very absorbent that weight and bulk are unnecessary. Kotex absorbs 16 times its own weight in moisture! ... 5 times more than the finest quality of absorbent cotton.

Kotex is non-detectable. The corners are rounded and tapered so no outline shows even under film-thin frocks.

Women appreciate, too, the ease with which Kotex disposes. There's no more fuss and laundering. The layers of filler can easily be adjusted as needed. Kotex brings complete sanitary comfort to your most trying days. Obtainable everywhere.

85% of hospitals use Kotex filler

Can you imagine any more eloquent tribute to Kotex than this? Surgeons in 85% of the hospitals in this country select Kotex filler (Cellucotton absorbent wadding) for their patients! Not only for sanitary pads, but also for surgical dressings! This is the same, identical, Kotex-made Cellucotton.

THE GUMPS—I FOUND A HORSESHOE

THE HAWK

By ROY VICKERS

INSTALLMENT XL.
A DESPERATE BLUFF

The junior officer looked at Dorling with a new interest.

"You'll jolly well have to explain that tank, you know."

"I'm very anxious to explain it—to the commander."

"I represent the commanding officer."

"Very well," snapped Dorling. "I came off the steamship Cornelia, which is now about thirty miles north-east of us, steering south. To the best of my belief, the Cornelia is more or less connected with the dope trade. That tank was probably faked so that it could carry dope."

The junior officer wholly failed to conceal the fact that he was impressed. He looked thoughtful and a little puzzled as to what he ought to do next.

"Better tell me the rest of the yarn," he invited.

"The details, surely, will keep. I was flying from the Cornelia to the coast when I spotted you. And I dropped down to tell you that on the Cornelia is a lady, a Miss Warren, who was drugged and put on that ship against her will. I wish to suggest that you should arrest the Cornelia."

"You can safely leave the suggestion to us," said the junior, not at all willing to have his duty explained to him by a landsman. "Miss Warren—did you say?"

Dorling told him and added his own name.

"I shall have to see the commanding officer after all," he said almost regretfully, for he would have liked to handle the whole business himself.

"And so will you. But you'd better stay here for a few minutes."

Before five minutes had passed, an orderly told Dorling that Lieutenant Commander Benson wished to see him.

The commander was a man of little more than Dorling's age—a fresh, keen faced officer with a touch of the lawyer about him.

Before the commander had asked more than a couple of questions, Dorling realized that he would have to read very carefully in his account of himself. He decided to begin his own story at the Moonbeam night club.

"The fellow who ran the show asked me to come to his room and have a whiskey. I did so. Roughly speaking, I woke up inside a car on board the Cornelia. . . . I can't for the life of me think why all this was done to me. I can only guess that they must have mistaken me for some one else."

Fortunately for Dorling, the commander was not interested in the Moonbeam club and asked no questions about his previous movements.

He was chiefly interested in the Cornelia, but on this subject Dorling, keeping to himself the fact that they had put in to the island, could tell him very little.

"You understand, Lord Dorling, that I shall have to verify one or two of your statements before I can stop the Cornelia."

"Quite so," agreed Dorling. "And then you will rescue Miss Warren?"

When the interview was over and Dorling returned to the deck, the Cornelia was already in sight.

With growing excitement he watched the mystery ship growing larger and larger. When they were within a quarter of a mile of her he noticed that the destroyer slackened speed.

The commander was waiting, no doubt, for instructions by wireless. Perhaps the authorities at the admiralty were communicating with Scotland Yard—or Warren himself—on the question of Cecily's disappearance.

It would be a matter of time only—and a short time at that. He could well afford to wait. All the passengers on the Cornelia must be gossiping about the destroyer. Cecily would surely guess why it was keeping so close.

That was a bright idea of mine—to go straight to the navy!" he laughed to himself. In truth, he was feeling vastly pleased with himself. It seemed certain that the moment of his triumph was at hand. And that was the moment chosen by the fates to reprove him for his excessive self-confidence.

He had found a part of the deck where he seemed to be in no one's way. He was strolling idly in this somewhat restricted space when, through the corner of his eye, he caught sight of the uniform of the royal air force.

It had no special significance for him. Uniforms were on every side of him, coming and going, hurrying over duties that were a mystery to him. But when he turned he was face to face with the flying officer.

"Doug Harris! Thank God!" exclaimed the flying officer. "I thought I had killed you. You used a parachute, of course."

"I was young Wreford who arrested him at Redfern—your friend Doug Harris at the height of his fame. I gather you are under arrest here?"

"I'm glad I didn't drop you," Wreford was saying, and added: "It seems the parachute didn't help you much, though. I gather you are under arrest here?"

He was bitter, thought Dorling. He had rescued Cecily. But now she was to have the pain of seeing him taken back to Dartmoor.

He must say something to Wreford. He stared dumbly at him. He was about to admit the truth when, in the last fraction of a second, he abruptly changed his mind.

"My dear sir, I haven't the ghost of a notion what you're talking about!" he exclaimed. "I got something about a parachute. I've never used one in my life."

"No good, old man," said Wreford sadly. "You aren't exactly a commonplace type, you know. You really can't hope to swing that on me."

Dorling knew well enough that his bluff stood no chance of ultimate success. In that last fraction of a second he had decided to bluff—on Cecily's sake only. There had come to him the fear that if he were to admit that he was Doug Harris, the ex-convict, the arrangements for Cecily's rescue might conceivably be upset.

"I take it you don't mean to be offensive," he said icily. "I'm quite content to believe that you are genuinely mixing me up with some one else."

"If I had happened to meet you when I was off duty, I'd have asked you to have a drink—and I'd have kept my mouth shut," said Wreford earnestly. "The trouble is, I'm on duty."

That, thought Dorling, was very nice of Wreford. The young officer, of course, was wholly unconvinced. Doubtless, in a moment, he would go to the commander. Then there would be a ding-dong—one word against another—but young Wreford would not be able to prove his statement until they reached shore and by that time Cecily would be safe.

He laughed as if he were genuinely amused.

"We shall go on like this all night if we aren't careful. I don't know who you are. If you want to know who I am, ask Commander Benson. As I understand it, we shall presently be in touch with the Cornelia. There are quite a number of people on board who can identify me."

"I only wish you could get away with it!" retorted Wreford without rancor. "I am afraid I shall have to queer your night."

FIND THE TWINS

At first glance all the young ladies look alike; but you are asked to find the Twins that are clothed exactly alike. Now then: upon closer examination you will find a difference in their wearing apparel. Have they all earrings or necklaces? How about their coats and hats? Are they trimmed the same? Some have bands on the brim and crowns, others have not. Maybe the difference is just the buttonhole in the lapel of the coat.

It takes real care and cleverness to point out the difference and find the two real Twins, because two and only two are identically the same.

When you have found the twins, write the numbers in the coupon at right, fill in your name and complete address and mail at once to the Puzzle Manager, The Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. In the event of ties in the final awarding, prizes of equal value will be given.

Think of it—you can win as much as $4,000.00 cash and a $1,500.00 Buick four-door sedan! Yes, sir! $7,540.00 in cash prizes may be won in this interesting puzzle contest plus the $1,500.00 Buick Sedan, and these prizes will be awarded after the close of the contest, November 12th, 1929.

10 CASH PRIZES IN EACH PRIZE GROUP

You can win first prize in list 3, first prize in list 2, first prize in list 1, or you can win one prize in each prize group, but not more than one prize in a group. This gives you a chance of winning all of the first cash prizes, or a total of $4,000.00 cash plus a magnificent $1,500.00 four-door Buick Sedan, fully equipped with spotlight, for promptness.

DRAW A CIRCLE

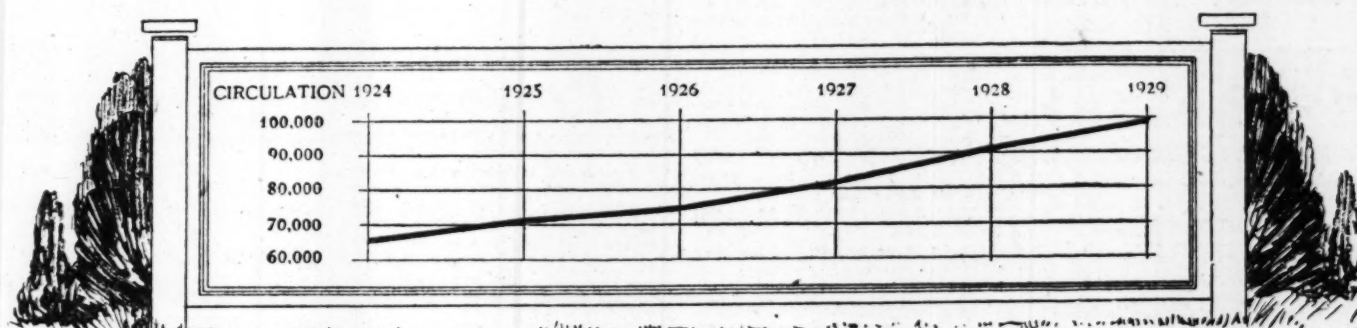

Take in everything within 75 miles of Five points---and what do you have? The richest and most responsive market in the State of Georgia. If not indeed in the entire Southeast!

Within 75 Miles of Atlanta you will find more concentrated wealth, more real buying power than in any other section of the State. Witness the number of automobiles, of radios, of labor-saving devices, of higher incomes.

Ask an executive of any Atlanta department store and he will tell you that the overwhelming bulk of his sales is made to persons residing within this 75-mile radius.

DRAW A COMPARISON

What is the best way to reach---to advertise to this moneyed market? The first thing is to draw a comparison between the circulations of the three Atlanta newspapers.

THE FIVE-YEAR RECORD OF THE CONSTITUTION'S GAIN IN CIRCULATION

Eighty-one per cent of the circulation of the daily Constitution is concentrated in this very area---a larger percentage than either of the other two papers can boast. More copies of The Atlanta Constitution go into this "trading area" than any other Atlanta daily!

At some time or other, you have undoubtedly read that famous story, "Acres of Diamonds." Remember how a man searched for riches all over the world---only to find them eventually in his own backyard?
